Item 8.01 Other Events.

On January 31, 2018, Spire Inc. and Spire Missouri Inc. issued the following joint statement.

Spire Expresses Concern that Customers Will Be Impacted by Missouri's Continued Anti-Growth Regulatory Environment

Spire, the nation's fifth-largest publicly traded gas utility, today expressed disappointment at the continued anti-growth regulatory environment existing in Missouri. While Spire's rate case in front of the Missouri Public Service Commission isn't finalized yet, today's Commission meeting has led the company to express concern that recent pro-customer initiatives undertaken by Spire are unlikely to be recognized in the case:

"Spire has long been aware that Missouri has an unfavorable, anti-growth regulatory environment. A recent ranking of state regulatory environments places Missouri in the bottom five states in the entire country. In the current case before the Missouri Public Service Commission, Spire has made a number of proposals that would improve Missouri's ranking and bring significant benefits to our customers.

"In the rate case Spire has also detailed the extraordinary work that has gone into remaking the company with the aim of providing better, more cost-effective service to our customers. As a result of this growth and more efficient operations, Spire's natural gas bills in Missouri are actually lower today than they were a decade ago. Spire has not increased its base rates for Missouri customers in eight years for anything other than safety-related and mandated public improvements.

"Unfortunately, through deliberations in this case, the Commission has signaled that it will reject many of the company's proposals and adopt positions that run contrary to business practices or serve to weaken customer protections. Specifically, the Commission has disallowed certain utility assets and selectively utilized factors beyond the regulated utility in their decision making. Spire believes these decisions will increase costs to the company and will result in higher rates for customers in the future. Spire is concerned that these decisions are shortsighted and not in the long-term best interest of our customers and communities.

"Spire will continue to pursue all means at its disposal to ensure the final resolution in this case balances interests and that Spire remains positioned to bring savings and quality service to customers."
