Section 1—Conflict Minerals Disclosure

Item 1.01 Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

Introduction

Kirby Corporation (the “Company”), along with all of its subsidiaries, is committed to sourcing products in accordance with the law and expects suppliers to do the same. The Company has designed its “conflict minerals” reporting efforts to align and comply with the conflict minerals requirements of the Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (the “Dodd–Frank Act”). Certain terms used in this report are defined in Rule 13p-1.

In accordance with Rule 13p-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, the Company undertook inquiries to determine whether there is reason to believe that any conflict minerals that are contained in and necessary to the functionality or production of products manufactured by the Company or its subsidiaries (or contracted by the Company or its subsidiaries to be manufactured) having a completion of manufacture date in 2014 may have originated in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (“DRC”) or an adjoining country (together with the DRC, the “Covered Countries”). “Conflict minerals” is defined in Section 1502(e)(4) of the Dodd–Frank Act to include columbite-tantalite (coltan), cassiterite, gold, wolframite, or their derivatives.

Description of the Company’s Reasonable Country of Origin Inquiry

The Company has designed and implemented a conflict minerals compliance plan intended to facilitate compliance with Rule 13p-1. The Company has taken the following steps:

1. A conflict minerals project team including internal and external resources was established and a strategy to comply with applicable legal requirements was formulated.
2. Suppliers of parts potentially containing conflict minerals that were later included in products manufactured by the Company or its subsidiaries (or contracted by the Company or its subsidiaries to be manufactured) were identified.

The identified suppliers were sent (i) the Electronic Industry Citizenship Coalition (EICC)–Global e-Sustainability Initiative (GeSI) Conflict Minerals Reporting Template (each, a “CMRT”) to request specified information regarding the inclusion of conflict minerals in the parts supplied to the Company or its subsidiaries and the country of origin thereof, and (ii) a copy of the Company’s current Conflict Minerals Policy. Each CMRT was evaluated for consistency, completeness, and accuracy and, in certain circumstances, further inquiries were made to clarify or improve the quality of the responses. Moreover, suppliers providing no response or an inadequate response were subject to additional written or oral requests for information. Information available from other sources (public and private) regarding the use and country of origin of conflict minerals in such suppliers’ parts was also obtained and reviewed.

Results of the Company’s Reasonable Country of Origin Inquiry

Based on the Company’s reasonable country of origin inquiry as described above, the Company has no reason to believe that any conflict minerals that are contained in and necessary to the functionality or production of products manufactured by the Company or its subsidiaries (or contracted by the Company or its subsidiaries to be manufactured) having a completion of manufacture date in 2014 may have originated in a Covered Country. The Company continues to update internal processes in furtherance of continued compliance with Rule 13p-1.
