NEWS RELEASE

Lee Enterprises reports results for second fiscal quarter DAVENPORT, Iowa (May 7, 2009) — Lee Enterprises, Incorporated (NYSE: LEE), reported today a loss per diluted common share of $1.16 for its second fiscal quarter ended March 29, 2009. A year ago, Lee recorded a loss of $15.90 per share. Non-cash impairment charges reduced results significantly in both years, and the incremental cost of debt refinancing reduced results in the current year quarter.

Impairment charges in this year's quarter totaled $154.8 million, and financing charges totaled $12.9 million. This year's quarter included a favorable earnings impact of $58.1 million, resulting from a reversal of a liability of $71.3 million initially recorded in March 2008 related to the redemption of a 5 percent minority interest in St. Louis. Exclusion of the reversal, impairment charges in both years and other unusual items<sup>(1)</sup> results in a loss of 7 cents per share for the quarter, which is the seasonally smallest of the year. Per share earnings a year ago were 9 cents.

Mary Junck, chairman and chief executive officer, said:

"A substantial achievement in the quarter was our completion of favorable financing arrangements to help us manage through the recession. In refinancing the Pulitzer Notes and restructuring our bank debt, we have been able to protect our operating flexibility and ability to resume long-term growth.

"For now, the recession has cut deeply across all key categories of advertising revenue. One glimmer is that year-over-year revenue declines have flattened over the last three months. Still, we expect a tough road in the months ahead and have taken further steps to streamline our cost structure. As a result, we now expect to reduce 2009 cash costs 15-16 percent below 2008, a decrease of more than $120 million.

"Despite the current economic turmoil, we continue to believe that Lee will emerge strong. We believe our aggressive sales programs during the downturn will help us gain an even greater share of local print and online advertising spending when the economy recovers. In addition, our massive audience reach in our markets has continued to grow. Our latest research reaffirms that both our print and online audiences expanded in 2008 across all age groups, in direct contradiction to the negativity surrounding the future of our business. Meanwhile, colleagues across our company are applauding the awarding of a Pulitzer Prize to Mark Mahoney of The Post-Star in Glens Falls, New York. His powerful editorial writing exemplifies the importance our newspapers place on strong local coverage and our indispensable role in our communities."

PRINT AND ONLINE AUDIENCES

Both print and online audiences continued to grow in 2008 across all age groups in Lee's 12 largest markets.

According to the 2008 Lee Enterprises Audience Report released in March, the combined reach of the newspapers and online sites among adults over the course of a week grew from 67 percent in 2007 to 70 percent in 2008. The research, conducted by Wilkerson & Associates, carries an overall margin of error of 0.8 percentage points.

Among other statistics: The newspapers reach an average of 63 percent of all adults in the markets, compared with 62 percent in 2007. The newspaper online sites attract 23 percent of all adults, compared with 18 percent a year earlier. The reach of both the newspapers and the online sites has continued to grow in every age category. The combined reach for people 18-29 rose from 56 to 62 percent. It increased from 64 to 66 percent among those 30-39; from 70 to 72 percent among those 40-59, and from 72 to 73 percent for people 60 and older. Among people who seek local news online, 44 percent rely on the newspaper site, compared with 18 percent who visit all local TV sites combined. Details of the audience report are available at www.lee.net/audience.

Although audience reach continued to grow, paid circulation declined for the six-month Audit Bureau of Circulations Fas-Fax period ended March 31, 2009. Lee newspapers recorded declines of 4.6 percent daily<sup>(3)</sup> and 3.5 percent Sunday, compared with industry average declines of 7.3 percent daily and 5.4 percent Sunday. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch posted a daily decline of 6.5 percent and a Sunday gain of 0.3 percent. The Post-Dispatch was one of only two of the country's 25 largest newspapers to grow on Sunday. Factors affecting paid circulation include price increases, reduced distribution in less-profitable geographic areas and reductions in sponsored copies.

DEBT AND FREE CASH FLOW(4)

Debt was reduced $153 million in the quarter, including $120 million as a result of refinancing of the Pulitzer Notes in February. Also in February, Lee restructured future payments of its $1.1 billion bank debt. The cost of debt financing charged to expense totaled $12.9 million for the quarter. Remaining financing costs will be amortized until 2012.

Carl Schmidt, Lee vice president, chief financial officer and treasurer, said: "We believe the favorable terms of these financing arrangements, as well as resolution of the minority ownership arrangement in St. Louis, have significantly improved our liquidity for the foreseeable future and give us a clear runway to manage through the recession. We remain on pace with expectations we set for our lenders during the refinancing process. Liquidity at the end of the quarter totaled $94.7 million, against $81.9 million of debt repayments due in the next twelve months, substantially all of which are expected to be satisfied with the company's cash flow." He said the company remained well within all its financial covenants.

Free cash flow in this seasonally lowest quarter of the year was negative $6.0 million, compared with $9.8 million a year ago. Free cash flow totaled $14.5 million year to date, compared with $57.9 million in the prior year. The payment of debt financing costs significantly reduced results for the current year quarter and year to date.

IMPAIRMENT CHARGES

Results for the quarter include an estimate of non-cash impairment charges to earnings. The non-cash impairment charges are consistent with the manner in which other publishing companies and those in other industries are responding to current equity market valuation issues.

The charges, which the company preliminarily estimates total $154.8 million before income taxes, and $115.7 million after tax, substantially reduce the book value of goodwill and other tangible and intangible assets, including certain newspaper mastheads. The charges have no effect on cash flows, but reduce reported earnings per common share, resulting in a loss for the quarter and full year ending September 27, 2009. The impairment testing is being performed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, which, among other factors, requires consideration of differences between current book value and the fair value of all of the company's assets, including current market capitalization.

Because of the complex nature of the calculations involved, the final amount of the charges will not be determined for several months. A more definitive amount is expected to be included in financial statements to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in the company's Form 10-Q for the period ending June 28, 2009.

NOTES:

- (1) Adjusted net income and adjusted earnings per common share, which are defined as income (loss) available to common stockholders and earnings (loss) per common share adjusted to exclude unusual items and those of a substantially non-recurring nature, are non-GAAP (Generally Accepted Accounting Principles) financial measures. Reconciliations of adjusted net income and adjusted earnings per common share to income (loss) available to common stockholders and earnings (loss) per common share are included in tables in this release.
  - No non-GAAP financial measure should be considered as a substitute for any related GAAP financial measure. However, the company believes the use of non-GAAP financial measures provides meaningful supplemental information with which to evaluate its financial performance, or assist in forecasting and analyzing future periods. The company also believes such non-GAAP financial measures are alternative indicators of performance used by investors, lenders, rating agencies and financial analysts to estimate the value of a publishing business and its ability to meet debt service requirements.
- (2) Operating cash flow, which is defined as operating income before depreciation, amortization, impairment charges and equity in earnings of associated companies, is a non-GAAP financial measure. See (1) above. The company believes operating cash flow provides meaningful supplemental information because of its focus on results from operations before depreciation and amortization, non-cash impairment charges and earnings from equity investments. Reconciliations of operating cash flow to operating income (loss), the most directly comparable GAAP measure, are included in tables accompanying this release.
- (3) Comparison to prior year excludes The Capital Times, which ceased daily publication in April 2008.
- (4) Free cash flow, which is defined as operating income, plus depreciation and amortization, impairment charges, stock compensation and financial income, minus financial expense (exclusive of non-cash amortization and accretion), cash income taxes, capital expenditures and minority interest, is a non-GAAP financial measure. See (1) above. The company believes free cash flow provides meaningful supplemental information because of its focus on results from operations after inclusion or exclusion of the several factors noted above. Reconciliations of free cash flow to operating income (loss), the most directly comparable GAAP measure, are included in a table accompanying this release.
- (5) Certain amounts as previously reported have been reclassified to conform with the current period presentation. The prior period has been restated for comparative purposes, and the reclassifications have no impact on earnings.
- (6) The company disclaims responsibility for updating information beyond the release date.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS — The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 provides a "safe harbor" for forward-looking statements.
