Barclays and HDFC to sell interest in Intelenet

Barclays Bank PLC ("Barclays") and Housing Development Finance Corporation Ltd ("HDFC") are pleased to announce that they have agreed to sell their entire shareholding in Intelenet Global Services Pvt Ltd ("Intelenet"), an India-based business process outsourcing ("BPO") operation, to SKR BPO Services Ltd ("SKR"). SKR is jointly owned by the management of Intelenet and Blackstone GVP Capital Partners Mauritius V-B Ltd, a member of the Blackstone Capital Partners group, a leading global private equity investor.

Intelenet provides business processing services to a variety of local and international customers. Intelenet is a 50/50 joint venture between Barclays and HDFC which was established in 2004. It has gross assets of US$107 million.

Following the conclusion of the transaction, Intelenet will continue to provide services to Barclays in relation to certain processes currently offshored to India. Intelenet has also agreed to assist Barclays in establishing a wholly owned BPO operation in India which will serve Barclays incremental offshoring requirements going forward.

David Skillen, Global Operations Principal, Barclays said: "We are pleased that we have sold our stake to the Intelenet management. We look forward to working with them to establish our BPO operation in India and in the continued provision of services to Barclays."

Renu S Kamad, Executive Director, HDFC said: "HDFC launched Intelenet at a time when the BPO sector was developing rapidly. We are happy to have been associated with Intelenet in its journey towards growth and leadership in the BPO industry. The BPO business today needs more focus and we believe that the new arrangement would provide the right impetus. We see the development as a win-win for all of us. We wish the management of Intelenet all success."
