Table of Contents*EXXON MOBIL CORPORATION*NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS*1. Basis of Financial Statement Preparation

These unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in the context of the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission in the Corporation's 2010 Annual Report on Form 10-K. In the opinion of the Corporation, the information furnished herein reflects all known accruals and adjustments necessary for a fair statement of the results for the periods reported herein. All such adjustments are of a normal recurring nature. The Corporation's exploration and production activities are accounted for under the successful efforts method.

2. Litigation and Other Contingencies*Litigation

A variety of claims have been made against ExxonMobil and certain of its consolidated subsidiaries in a number of pending lawsuits. Management has regular litigation reviews, including updates from corporate and outside counsel, to assess the need for accounting recognition or disclosure of these contingencies. The Corporation accrues an undiscounted liability for those contingencies where the incurrence of a loss is probable and the amount can be reasonably estimated. If a range of amounts can be reasonably estimated and no amount within the range is a better estimate than any other amount, then the minimum of the range is accrued. The Corporation does not record liabilities when the likelihood that the liability has been incurred is probable but the amount cannot be reasonably estimated or when the liability is believed to be only reasonably possible or remote. For contingencies where an unfavorable outcome is reasonably possible and which are significant, the Corporation discloses the nature of the contingency and, where feasible, an estimate of the possible loss. ExxonMobil will continue to defend itself vigorously in these matters. Based on a consideration of all relevant facts and circumstances, the Corporation does not believe the ultimate outcome of any currently pending lawsuit against ExxonMobil will have a materially adverse effect upon the Corporation's operations, financial condition, or financial statements taken as a whole.

On June 30, 2011, a state district court jury in Baltimore County, Maryland returned a verdict against Exxon Mobil Corporation in Allison, et al v. Exxon Mobil Corporation, a case involving an accidental 26,000 gallon gasoline leak at a suburban Baltimore service station. The verdict included approximately $497 million in compensatory damages and approximately $1.0 billion in punitive damages in a finding that ExxonMobil fraudulently misled the plaintiff-residents about the events leading up to the leak, the leak's discovery, and the nature and extent of any groundwater contamination. ExxonMobil believes the verdict is not justified by the evidence and that the amount of the award is grossly excessive and unconstitutional. ExxonMobil's post trial motion to overturn the punitive damages verdict is pending before the trial court. In the event ExxonMobil is not granted relief from the verdict, it will appeal the decision following entry of final judgment. In a prior trial involving the same leak, the jury awarded plaintiff-residents compensatory damages but decided against punitive damages. That case is on appeal. The ultimate outcome of this litigation is not expected to have a material adverse effect upon the Corporation's operations, financial condition, or financial statements taken as a whole.

The Corporation and certain of its consolidated subsidiaries were contingently liable at September 30, 2011, for $7,783 million, primarily relating to guarantees for notes, loans and performance under contracts. Included in this amount were guarantees by consolidated affiliates of $5,047 million, representing ExxonMobil's share of obligations of certain equity companies. These guarantees are not reasonably likely to have a material effect on the Corporation's financial condition, changes in financial condition, revenues or expenses, results of operations, liquidity, capital expenditures or capital resources.

Additionally, the Corporation and its affiliates have numerous long-term sales and purchase commitments in their various business activities, all of which are expected to be fulfilled with no adverse consequences material to the Corporation's operations or financial condition. The Corporation's outstanding unconditional purchase obligations at September 30, 2011, were similar to those at the prior year-end period. Unconditional purchase obligations as defined by accounting standards are those long-term commitments that are noncancelable or cancelable only under certain conditions, and that third parties have used to secure financing for the facilities that will provide the contracted goods or services.

The operations and earnings of the Corporation and its affiliates throughout the world have been, and may in the future be, affected from time to time in varying degree by political developments and laws and regulations, such as forced divestiture of assets; restrictions on production, imports and exports; price controls; tax increases and retroactive tax claims; expropriation of property; cancellation of contract rights and environmental regulations. Both the likelihood of such occurrences and their overall effect upon the Corporation vary greatly from country to country and are not predictable.

In accordance with a nationalization decree issued by Venezuela's president in February 2007, by May 1, 2007, a subsidiary of the Venezuelan National Oil Company (PdVSA) assumed the operatorship of the Cerro Negro Heavy Oil Project. This Project had been operated and owned by ExxonMobil affiliates holding a 41.67 percent ownership interest in the Project. The decree also required conversion of the Cerro Negro Project into a mixed enterprise and an increase in PdVSA's or one of its affiliate's ownership interest in the Project, with the stipulation that if ExxonMobil refused to accept the terms for the formation of the mixed enterprise within a specified period of time, the government would directly assume the activities carried out by the joint venture. ExxonMobil refused to accede to the terms proffered by the government, and on June 27, 2007, the government expropriated ExxonMobil's 41.67 percent interest in the Cerro Negro Project.

On September 6, 2007, affiliates of ExxonMobil filed a Request for Arbitration with the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID) invoking ICSID jurisdiction under Venezuela's Investment Law and the Netherlands-Venezuela Bilateral Investment Treaty. The ICSID Tribunal issued a decision on June 10, 2010, finding that it had jurisdiction to proceed on the basis of the Netherlands-Venezuela Bilateral Investment Treaty. The ICSID arbitration proceeding is continuing and a hearing on the merits is currently scheduled for the first quarter of 2012. An affiliate of ExxonMobil has also filed an arbitration under the rules of the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC) against PdVSA and a PdVSA affiliate for breach of their contractual obligations under certain Cerro Negro Project agreements. A hearing on the merits of the ICC arbitration concluded in September 2010 and the parties have filed post-hearing briefs. At this time, the net impact of this matter on the Corporation's consolidated financial results cannot be reasonably estimated. However, the Corporation does not expect the resolution to have a material effect upon the Corporation's operations or financial condition. ExxonMobil's remaining net book investment in Cerro Negro producing assets is about $750 million.

The company expects to make contributions in 2011 of $370 million to the U.S. pension fund and $1,600 million to the non-U.S. pension funds, increases of $100 million and $470 million, respectively, from the year-end 2010 estimate for 2011 contributions.

Table of Contents*6. Financial and Derivative Instruments

Financial Instruments. The fair value of financial instruments is determined by reference to observable market data and other valuation techniques as appropriate. The only category of financial instruments where the difference between fair value and recorded book value is notable is long-term debt. The estimated fair value of total long-term debt, including capitalized lease obligations, was $9.8 billion at September 30, 2011, and $12.8 billion at December 31, 2010, as compared to recorded book values of $9.3 billion at September 30, 2011, and $12.2 billion at December 31, 2010. The fair value hierarchy for long-term debt is primarily Level 1 (quoted prices for identical assets in active markets).

Derivative Instruments. The Corporation's size, strong capital structure, geographic diversity and the complementary nature of the Upstream, Downstream and Chemical businesses reduce the Corporation's enterprise-wide risk from changes in interest rates, currency rates and commodity prices. As a result, the Corporation makes limited use of derivatives to mitigate the impact of such changes. The Corporation does not engage in speculative derivative activities or derivative trading activities nor does it use derivatives with leveraged features.

When the Corporation does enter into derivative transactions, it is to offset exposures associated with interest rates, foreign currency exchange rates and hydrocarbon prices that arise from existing assets, liabilities and forecasted transactions. For derivatives designated as cash flow hedges, the Corporation's activity is intended to manage the price risk posed by physical transactions.

The estimated fair value of derivative instruments outstanding and recorded on the balance sheet was a net asset of $77 million and $172 million at September 30, 2011, and at December 31, 2010, respectively. This is the amount that the Corporation would have received from third parties if these derivatives had been settled in the open market. Assets and liabilities associated with derivatives are predominantly recorded either in Other current assets or Accounts payable and accrued liabilities. The September 30, 2011, net asset balance includes the Corporation's outstanding cash flow hedge position, acquired as a result of the June 2010 XTO merger, of $74 million. As the current cash flow hedge positions settle, these programs will be discontinued. The fair value hierarchy for derivative instruments is primarily Level 2 (either market prices for similar assets in active markets or prices quoted by a broker or other market-corroborated prices).

The Corporation recognized a before-tax gain related to derivative instruments of $32 million and $92 million during the three month and nine month periods ended September 30, 2011, and $70 million and $103 million during the three month and nine month periods ended September 30, 2010. Income statement effects associated with derivatives are recorded either in Sales and other operating revenue or Crude oil and product purchases. Of the amount stated above for the nine month period ended September 30, 2011, cash flow hedges resulted in a before-tax gain of $84 million. The ineffective portion of derivatives designated as hedges is de minimis.

The principal natural gas futures contracts and swap agreements acquired as part of the XTO merger that are in place as of September 30, 2011, will expire at the end of 2011. The associated volume of natural gas is 250 mcf/d at a weighted average NYMEX price of $7.02 per thousand cubic feet. These derivative contracts qualify for cash flow hedge accounting. The Corporation will receive the cash flow related to these derivative contracts at the price indicated above. However, the amount of the income statement gain or loss realized from these contracts will be limited to the change in fair value of the derivative instruments from the acquisition date of XTO.

The Corporation believes that there are no material market or credit risks to the Corporation's financial position, results of operations or liquidity as a result of the derivative activities described above.

ExxonMobil's results for the third quarter of 2011 reflect a continued commitment to operational integrity, disciplined investing and superior project execution.

Third quarter earnings of $10,330 million were up 41 percent from the third quarter of 2010, reflecting higher crude oil and natural gas realizations and improved refining margins.

In the third quarter, capital and exploration expenditures were $8.6 billion, and reached a record level of $26.7 billion for the first nine months of the year as we continue pursuing new opportunities to meet growing energy demand while supporting economic growth, including job creation.

The Corporation distributed over $7 billion to shareholders in the third quarter through dividends and share purchases to reduce shares outstanding.

Earnings in the first nine months of 2011 of $31,660 million increased $10,450 million, or 49 percent, from 2010. Earnings per share - assuming dilution increased 48 percent to $6.45.

Upstream earnings in the third quarter of 2011 were $8,394 million, up $2,927 million from the third quarter of 2010. Higher liquids and natural gas realizations increased earnings by $3 billion. Production mix and volume effects decreased earnings by $660 million. All other items, primarily gains on asset sales partly offset by higher expenses, increased earnings by $600 million.

On an oil-equivalent basis, production decreased 4 percent from the third quarter of 2010. Excluding the impacts of entitlement volumes, OPEC quota effects and divestments, production was unchanged.

Liquids production totaled 2,249 kbd (thousands of barrels per day), down 172 kbd from the third quarter of 2010. Excluding the impacts of entitlement volumes, OPEC quota effects and divestments, liquids production was down 1 percent, as increased production in Iraq, Qatar and Russia was more than offset by field decline.

Third quarter natural gas production was 12,197 mcf (millions of cubic feet per day), about flat with the third quarter of 2010.

Earnings from U.S. Upstream operations were $1,184 million, $185 million higher than the third quarter of 2010. Non-U.S. Upstream earnings were $7,210 million, up $2,742 million from last year.

Upstream earnings in the first nine months of 2011 were $25,610 million, up $8,993 million from 2010. Higher crude oil and natural gas realizations increased earnings by $8.6 billion. Production mix and volume effects decreased earnings by $1 billion, while all other items, including gains from asset sales, increased earnings by $1.4 billion.

On an oil-equivalent basis, production in the first nine months of 2011 was up 5 percent compared to the same period in 2010. Excluding the impacts of entitlement volumes, OPEC quota effects and divestments, production was up 8 percent.

Liquids production in the first nine months of 2011 of 2,332 kbd decreased 55 kbd compared with 2010. Excluding the impacts of entitlement volumes, OPEC quota effects and divestments, liquids production was up 2 percent, as higher volumes from Qatar, the U.S., Iraq and Russia more than offset field decline.

Natural gas production in the first nine months of 2011 of 12,988 mcf increased 1,684 mcf from 2010, driven by additional U.S. unconventional gas volumes and project ramp-ups in Qatar.

Earnings in the first nine months of 2011 from U.S. Upstream operations were $3,912 million, an increase of $957 million. Earnings outside the U.S. were $21,698 million, up $8,036 million.

These purchases included $5 billion to reduce the number of shares outstanding, with the balance used to offset shares issued in conjunction with the company's benefit plans and programs. PART II. OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

Regarding a matter previously reported in the Corporation's Form 10-K for 2008, on September 8, 2011, Exxon Mobil Corporation paid a civil penalty of $99,600 to resolve allegations brought by the Louisiana Department of Environmental Quality relating to emissions exceedances from the wet gas scrubber and wastewater treatment system at the Corporation's refinery located in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

With respect to a matter previously reported in the Corporation's Form 10-Q for the second quarter of 2011, on October 4, 2011, XTO Energy Inc. (XTO), without admitting any factual or legal allegations, and the New Mexico Environment Department (NMED) agreed to a settlement for XTO's alleged violations of the New Mexico Air Quality Control Act and implementing regulations for failure to obtain appropriate permits or registrations for compressor engines and other equipment located at XTO operating sites within the state. XTO is in the process of applying for and obtaining appropriate permits and registrations for its equipment. The settlement, through a Stipulated Final Compliance Order, requires XTO to pay NMED $421,340 to resolve the matter.

On April 14, 2011, the Attorney General for the State of New York filed a complaint against ExxonMobil Oil Corporation in New York Supreme Court for Albany County alleging that petroleum was discharged at a former Mobil petroleum terminal at Lighthouse Point in Ogdensburg, New York, causing contamination of soil and groundwater. On May 11, 2011, ExxonMobil filed its answer denying the substantive allegations of the complaint. The complaint does not include a specific penalty demand, but it is possible that the final penalty could exceed $100,000.

As a result of the July 1, 2011, discharge of crude oil into the Yellowstone River from the ExxonMobil Pipeline Company (EMPCO) Silvertip Pipeline in Billings, Montana, the Montana Department of Environmental Quality (MDEQ) has alleged that EMPCO violated Montana law, including the Montana Water Quality Act. EMPCO is in discussions with the MDEQ to resolve the matter, which could result in the assessment of a civil penalty in excess of $100,000.

On July 11, 2011, the U.S. Department of Transportation Pipeline & Hazardous Material Safety Administration (PHMSA) issued a Final Order finding that ExxonMobil Pipeline Company (EMPCO) violated PHMSA requirements by failing to establish a written procedure for the removal of a temperature probe from a gasoline storage tank at its petroleum terminal in Spokane, Washington. The removal of the temperature probe caused a release of petroleum from the tank, which was promptly addressed by the facility. PHMSA assessed a civil penalty of $100,000 in the Final Order. EMPCO filed a Petition for Reconsideration on August 3, 2011.

On August 3, 2011, Harris County filed a lawsuit against ExxonMobil Chemical Company in the 129th Judicial District Court in Houston, Texas, relating to alleged violations of the Clean Air Act at the Company's Baytown Olefins Plant (BOP) in Texas. The petition alleged that BOP released in excess of 50 tons of propylene over a 52-day period beginning in April 2011 and that the Company failed to report the release in a timely manner. Harris County is seeking in excess of $1 million in penalties. ExxonMobil is contesting the late reporting allegation based on review of the regulations and believes there is a sound legal basis to demonstrate that ExxonMobil complied with the reporting requirements. With regard to the release, initial analyses indicate no negative impacts to human health or the environment and the emissions did not exceed the permitted maximum allowable emissions rates. Efforts to resolve this matter are underway.

Refer to the relevant portions of note 2 on pages 7 and 8 of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for further information on legal proceedings.
