Economic review

Economic activity in the U.S. improved during the twelve months ended November 30, 2017 (the reporting period). Looking back, the U.S. Department of Commerce reported that U.S. gross domestic product (GDP) growth was 1.8% and 1.2%, as revised, for the fourth quarter of 2016 and the first quarter of 2017, respectively. Second quarter 2017 GDP growth then accelerated to 3.1%. Finally, the U.S. Department of Commerce's final reading for third quarter 2017 GDP growth released after the reporting period ended was 3.2%. Stronger growth was attributed to a number of factors, including positive contributions from private inventory investment and upturns in state and local government spending. These positive factors were partly offset by a decrease in personal consumption expenditures, nonresidential fixed investment and exports.

Job growth in the U.S. was solid overall and supported the economy during the reporting period. When the reporting period ended on November 30, 2017, the unemployment rate was 4.1%, as reported by the U.S. Department of Labor. This equaled the lowest unemployment rate since December 2000. The percentage of longer-term unemployed declined during the reporting period. In November 2017, 23.8% of Americans looking for a job had been out of work for more than six months, versus 24.2% when the period began.

Looking back, after an extended period of maintaining the federal funds rate<sup>ii</sup> at a historically low range between zero and 0.25%, the Federal Reserve Board (the Fed<sup>i</sup>) increased the rate at its meeting on December 16, 2015. In particular, the U.S. central bank raised the federal funds rate to a range between 0.25% and 0.50%. The Fed then kept rates on hold at each meeting prior to its meeting on December 14, 2016, at which time, the Fed raised rates to a range between 0.50% and 0.75%.

The Fed's next rate hike occurred at its meeting that ended on March 15, 2017, as it raised rates to a range between 0.75% and 1.00%. At its meeting that concluded on June 14, 2017, the Fed then raised rates to a range between 1.00% and 1.25%. During its meeting that concluded on September 20, 2017, the Fed kept rates on hold, but reiterated its intention to begin reducing its balance sheet, saying, "In October, the Committee will initiate the balance sheet normalization program." Finally, at its meeting that ended on December 13, 2017, after the reporting period ended, the Fed raised rates to a range between 1.25% and 1.50%.

As always, thank you for your confidence in our stewardship of your assets.

Sincerely,

Jane Trust, CFA

Fund overview

Q. What is the Fund's investment strategy?

A. The Fund's primary investment objective is to provide current income and then to liquidate and distribute substantially all of the Fund's net assets to stockholders on or about December 2, 2024. As a secondary investment objective, the Fund will seek capital appreciation. There can be no assurance the Fund will achieve its investment objectives.

The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objectives by investing, under normal market conditions, at least 80% of its net assets in investment grade corporate fixed-income securities of varying maturities. The Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets in corporate fixed-income securities of below investment grade quality (commonly known as "high yield" or "junk" bonds) at the time of investment and other securities, including obligations of the U.S. government, its agencies or instrumentalities, common stocks, warrants and depositary receipts. While the Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets in below investment grade securities, the Fund will, under normal market conditions, maintain a portfolio with an overall dollar-weighted average of investment grade credit quality. The Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets in securities of foreign issuers located anywhere in the world, including issuers located in emerging market countries. Additionally, the Fund may invest up to 20% of its net assets in non-U.S. dollar denominated securities.

The Fund may invest in derivative instruments, such as options contracts, futures contracts, options on futures contracts, indexed securities, credit default swaps and other swap agreements, provided that the Fund's exposure to derivative instruments, as measured by the total notional amount of all such instruments, will not exceed 20% of its net assets.

In purchasing securities and other investments for the Fund, we may take full advantage of the entire range of maturities and durations<sup>1</sup> offered by corporate fixed-income securities and may adjust the average maturity or duration of the Fund's portfolio from time to time, depending on our assessment of the relative yields available on securities of different maturities and durations and our expectations of future changes in interest rates.

The Fund may take on leveraging risk by utilizing certain management techniques, whereby it will segregate liquid assets, enter into offsetting transactions or own positions covering its obligations. To the extent the Fund covers its commitment under such a portfolio management technique, such instrument will not be considered a senior security for the purposes of the Investment Company Act of 1940. However, as a fundamental policy, the Fund will not leverage its capital structure by issuing senior securities such as preferred shares or debt instruments.

At Western Asset Management Company (Western Asset), the Fund's subadviser, we utilize a fixed-income team approach, with decisions derived from interaction among various investment management sector specialists. The sector teams are comprised of Western Asset's senior portfolio management personnel, research analysts and an in-house economist. Under this team approach, management of client fixed-income portfolios will reflect a consensus of interdisciplinary views within the Western Asset organization. The individuals responsible for development of investment strategy, day-to-day portfolio management, oversight and coordination of the Fund are S. Kenneth Leech, Michael C. Buchanan and Ryan K. Brist.

Q. What were the overall market conditions during the Fund's reporting period?

A. Most spread sectors (non-Treasuries) posted positive returns, but generated mixed results versus equal-duration Treasuries over the twelve-month reporting period ended November 30, 2017. The fixed income market was impacted by a number of factors during the reporting period, including signs of generally improving economic growth, uncertainties related to future Federal Reserve Board (the "Fed") monetary policy, fiscal policy initiatives and several geopolitical issues.

Both short-term and longer-term Treasury yields moved higher during the reporting period as a whole. The yield for the two-year Treasury note began the reporting period at 1.11% and ended the period at 1.78%, the latter matching its peak for the period. The low for the period of 1.10% occurred on December 7, 2016. The yield for the ten-year Treasury began the reporting period at 2.37% and ended the period at 2.42%. The low for the period of 2.05% occurred on September 7, 2017 and the peak of 2.60% took place on both December 15 and December 16, 2016.

The global credit markets generated solid results for the reporting period. Credit spreads narrowed as corporate profits often exceeded expectations, defaults remained low and fundamentals were generally strong. In addition, demand was robust overall as investors looked to generate incremental yield in the low interest rate environment.

All told, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Index<sup>iii</sup> returned 3.21% during the reporting period. Comparatively, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Credit Index<sup>iv</sup> returned 5.98% over the same period and the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Corporate High Yield 2% Issuer Cap Index<sup>v</sup> returned 9.16%.

Q. How did we respond to these changing market conditions?

A. From a sector perspective, we modestly increased the Fund's overweight to the aerospace & defense industry as new issues came to market at attractive levels post mergers and acquisitions (M&A) deals. We slightly pared our allocation to the Communications<sup>1</sup> sector giving margin pressures and M&A risks. Elsewhere, the Fund's exposure to metals & mining fell somewhat due to certain holdings being tendered. However, we maintained an overweight to the Materials sector given strengthening fundamentals. Finally, within the Consumer Non-Cyclicals<sup>2</sup> sector, we reduced our allocation to food & beverage and added to our position in the Health Care sector, as we found the latter to be more attractive.

During the reporting period, we employed U.S. Treasury futures to manage the Fund's duration. These futures contracts modestly detracted from performance. However, interest rate swaps, which we also used to manage the Fund’s duration, were additive for results. Currency forwards, which were utilized to manage the Fund’s currency exposure, contributed to performance. Finally, high yield index swaps, which were used to manage the Fund’s credit exposure, detracted from performance.

Performance review

For the twelve months ended November 30, 2017, Western Asset Investment Grade Defined Opportunity Trust Inc. returned 9.09% based on its net asset value ( NAV<sup>i</sup> ) and 14.76% based on its New York Stock Exchange ( NYSE ) market price per share. The Fund’s unmanaged benchmark, the Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Credit Index, returned 5.98% for the same period. The Lipper Corporate Debt BBB-Rated Closed-End Funds Category Average<sup>vii</sup> returned 6.80% over the same time frame. Please note that Lipper performance returns are based on each fund’s NAV.

During the twelve-month period, the Fund made distributions to shareholders totaling $1.07 per share.* The performance table shows the Fund’s twelve-month total return based on its NAV and market price as of November 30, 2017. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Total return assumes the reinvestment of all distributions in additional shares in accordance with the Fund’s Dividend Reinvestment Plan.

Q. What were the leading contributors to performance?

A. The largest contributor to the Fund’s relative performance during the reporting period was security selection. This was partially driven by the Fund’s holdings in the Financials sector, with overweight positions in Royal Bank of Scotland Group PLC, BNP Paribas SA and Citigroup Inc. adding the most value. They were supported by improving fundamentals, the potential benefits from deregulation and expectations for further rating upgrades. Within the Telecommunication Services sector, an underweight to Verizon Communications Inc. and the Fund’s tactical exposure (at sometimes overweight and at other times underweight) to AT&T Inc. were positive for performance. These companies were impacted from an ongoing pricing war that is pressuring margins, along with M&A concerns. In the Energy sector, a number of overweight positions were additive for results, including Williams Cos. Inc., Devon Energy Corp. and Anadarko Petroleum Corp. These holdings were supported by strengthening fundamentals, OPEC (Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries) production cuts and rising commodity prices. Within the Consumer Non-Cyclicals sector, the Fund's underweight to large pharmaceutical companies, such as Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd., was positive for performance. Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd. was hurt by pricing pressures and negative investor sentiment.

Sector allocation tilts were also additive for results, with the largest contributor being the Fund's overweight to the Energy sector. This sector was one of the top performers during the reporting period, due to the aforementioned factors. Underweights to the Consumer Non-Cyclicals sector, taxable municipal securities and technology were also rewarded, as they all lagged the benchmark.

Elsewhere, the Fund's quality biases contributed to returns. In particular, an overweight to securities rated BBB was rewarded given the outperformance of lower rated securities during the reporting period. Finally, tactical positioning of the Fund's duration was beneficial for returns.

Q. What were the leading detractors from performance?

A. The largest detractor from the Fund's relative performance during the reporting period was its underweight to sovereign debt. In particular, having no allocation to Mexican sovereign bonds negatively impacted results. After falling sharply after the November 2016 presidential U.S. election, they rallied sharply given improving commodity prices, a weakening U.S. dollar and moderating concerns over U.S. protectionist policies.

From a security selection perspective, underweight positions in Petroleos Mexicanos (PEMEX) and not owning Oracle Corp. were headwinds for results. Mexican oil & gas issuer PEMEX performed well as fundamentals in Mexico stabilized and oil prices rallied. Computer software company Oracle Corp. generated solid results as its balance sheet remained strong with a healthy cash position and it was expected to be a potential beneficiary from U.S. tax reform.

and not as a trading vehicle. The Fund is not intended to be a complete investment program and, due to the uncertainty inherent in all investments, there can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objectives. The Fund's common stock is traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Similar to stocks, the Fund's share price will fluctuate with market conditions and, at the time of sale, may be worth more or less than the original investment. Shares of closed-end funds often trade at a discount to their net asset value. Because the Fund is non-diversified, it may be more susceptible to economic, political or regulatory events than a diversified fund. The Fund's investments are subject to a number of risks such as credit risk, inflation risk and interest rate risk. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall, reducing the value of the Fund's holdings. The Fund may invest in lower-rated high-yield bonds or junk bonds, which are subject to greater liquidity and credit risk (risk of default) than higher-rated obligations. The Fund may use derivatives, such as options and futures, which can be illiquid, may disproportionately increase losses and have a potentially large impact on Fund performance. The Fund may invest in securities or engage in transactions that have the economic effects of leverage which can increase the risk and volatility of the Fund.

Spread duration measures the sensitivity to changes in spreads. The spread over Treasuries is the annual risk-premium demanded by investors to hold non-Treasury securities. Spread duration is quantified as the % change in price resulting from a 100 basis points change in spreads. For a security with positive spread duration, an increase in spreads would result in a price decline and a decline in spreads would result in a price increase. This chart highlights the market sector exposure of the Fund's sectors relative to the selected benchmark sectors as of the end of the reporting period.
