NVE CORPORATION
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

NOTE 1. DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS

We develop and sell devices that use spintronics, a nanotechnology that relies on electron spin rather than electron charge to acquire, store, and transmit information.

NOTE 2. INTERIM FINANCIAL INFORMATION AND SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The accompanying unaudited financial statements of NVE Corporation are consistent with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States and reporting with Securities and Exchange Commission rules and regulations. In the opinion of management, these financial statements reflect all adjustments, consisting only of normal and recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair presentation of the financial statements. Although we believe that the disclosures are adequate to make the information presented not misleading, it is suggested that these unaudited financial statements be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and the notes included in our latest annual financial statements included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009. The results of operations for the quarter ended December 31, 2009 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the full fiscal year ending March 31, 2010.

We evaluated all events or transactions that occurred after December 31, 2009 through January 20, 2010, the date we issued these financial statements. During this period we did not have any material recognizable subsequent events.

NOTE 3. RECENT ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

We have adopted all recently issued accounting pronouncements. The adoption of the accounting pronouncements, including those not yet effective, is not anticipated to have a material effect on our financial position or results of operations.

NOTE 4. NET INCOME PER SHARE

Basic earnings per share are computed based on the weighted-average number of common shares issued and outstanding during each period. Diluted net income per share amounts assume conversion, exercise or issuance of all potential common stock instruments (stock options and warrants). Stock options and warrants totaling 5,000 for the quarter and nine months ended December 31, 2009 and 60,000 for the quarter and nine months ended December 31, 2008 were not included in the computation of diluted earnings per share because the exercise prices of the options and warrants were greater than the market price of the common stock. The following table reflects the components of common shares outstanding:

Gross unrealized losses at December 31, 2009 were attributable to unrealized losses in our U.S. agency securities, corporate bonds, and municipal bonds. The gross unrealized losses were primarily due to interest rate fluctuations and market-price changes. Although several of the bonds we hold were downgraded by Moody's or Standard and Poor's during the nine months ended December 31, 2009, all of the bonds that were rated by Moody's or Standard and Poor's had investment-grade credit ratings, and a substantial majority were rated A3/A- or better. For each of eight bonds with an unrealized loss, we determined that it was not probable that we would not collect all amounts due. In reaching this determination, we considered factors including the credit ratings of the bonds, the underlying ratings of insured bonds, whether the bonds were prefunded, and historical default rates for securities of comparable credit rating. Because we determined that it was not probable that we would not collect all amounts due, and because we have the ability and intent to hold our bonds until a recovery of fair value, which may be maturity, we did not consider any of our marketable securities to be other-than-temporarily impaired at December 31, 2009.

Table of ContentsNOTE 6. COMPREHENSIVE INCOME

The components of comprehensive income are as follows:

Total inventories	$ 1,792,217	$ 2,247,621

NOTE 8. STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

There was no stock-based compensation expense for the third quarter of fiscal 2010. Stock-based compensation expenses were $5,598 for the third quarter of fiscal 2009, $100,842 for the first nine months of fiscal 2010, and $81,074 for the first nine months of fiscal 2009. Stock-based compensation expenses for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and 2008 were primarily due to the issuance of automatic stock options to our non-employee directors on their reelection to our Board. The increase in stock-based compensation for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 compared to the prior-year period was primarily due to a higher stock price at the date of grant compared to the prior-year date of grant. We calculate the share-based compensation expense on a straight-line basis over the vesting periods of the related share-based awards.

NOTE 9. INCOME TAXES

Deferred income taxes reflect the net tax effects of temporary differences between the carrying amount of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for income tax purposes. Tax provisions of $280,448 for the the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and $236,524 for the nine months ended December 31, 2008 were credited to Additional paid-in capital.

At December 31, 2009 we had no unrecognized tax benefits and we do not expect any significant unrecognized tax benefits within twelve months of the reporting date. We recognize interest and penalties related to income tax matters in income tax expense. As of December 31, 2009 we had no accrued interest related to uncertain tax positions. The years 1999 through 2008 remain open to examination by the major taxing jurisdictions to which we are subject.

NOTE 10. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

Generally accepted accounting principles establish a framework for measuring fair value, provide a definition of fair value and prescribe required disclosures about fair-value measurements. Generally accepted accounting principles define fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability. Fair value is a market-based measurement that should be determined using assumptions that market participants would use in pricing an asset or liability. Generally accepted accounting principles utilize a valuation hierarchy for disclosure of fair value measurements. The categorization within the valuation hierarchy is based on the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The categories within the valuation hierarchy are described as follows:

Table of Contents

Level 1 Financial instruments with quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities. Our Level 1 financial instruments consist of publicly-traded marketable debt securities that are classified as available-for-sale. On the balance sheets, available-for-sale securities are classified as Marketable securities, short term and Marketable securities, long term. The fair value of our available-for-sale securities was $45,202,361 at December 31, 2009 and $32,446,748 at March 31, 2009.

Level 2 Financial instruments with quoted prices in active markets for similar assets or liabilities. Level 2 fair value measurements are determined using either prices for similar instruments or inputs that are either directly or indirectly observable, such as interest rates. We do not have any financial assets or liabilities being measured at fair value that are classified as Level 2 financial instruments.

Level 3 Inputs to the fair value measurement are unobservable inputs or valuation techniques. We do not have any financial assets or liabilities being measured at fair value that are classified as Level 3 financial instruments.

NOTE 11. STOCK REPURCHASE PLAN

On January 21, 2009 we announced that our Board of Directors authorized the repurchase of up to $2,500,000 of our Common Stock. The repurchase program may be modified or discontinued at any time without notice. We did not repurchase any of our Common Stock during the quarter or nine months ended December 31, 2009.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

Forward-looking statements

Some of the statements made in this Report or in the documents incorporated by reference in this Report and in other materials filed or to be filed by us with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as well as information included in verbal or written statements made by us constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements are subject to the safe harbor provisions of the reform act. Forward-looking statements may be identified by the use of the terminology such as may, will, expect, anticipate, intend, believe, estimate, should, or continue, or the negatives of these terms or other variations on these words or comparable terminology. To the extent that this Report contains forward-looking statements regarding the financial condition, operating results, business prospects or any other aspect of NVE, you should be aware that our actual financial condition, operating results and business performance may differ materially from that projected or estimated by us in the forward-looking statements. We have attempted to identify, in context, some of the factors that we currently believe may cause actual future experience and results to differ from their current expectations. These differences may be caused by a variety of factors, including but not limited to an uncertain economic environment, risks associated with our marketable securities, competition including entry of new competitors, progress in research and development activities by us and others, variations in costs that are beyond our control, adverse legal proceedings, lower sales, failure of suppliers to meet our requirements, failure to obtain new customers, inability to carry out marketing and sales plans, inability to meet customer technical requirements, inability to consummate license agreements, ineligibility for SBIR awards, loss of key executives, and other specific risks that may be alluded to in this Report or in the documents incorporated by reference in this Report.

Further information regarding our risks and uncertainties are contained in Part I, Item 1A Risk Factors of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended March 31, 2009, as updated in Item 1A of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q.

Provision for income taxes	20.6%	20.2%	14.8%
Net income	41.8%	42.0%	12.1%

Total revenue for the quarter ended December 31, 2009 (the third quarter of fiscal 2010) increased 13% to $6,624,857 compared to $5,884,113 for the quarter ended December 31, 2008 (the third quarter of fiscal 2009). The increase was due to a 15% increase in product sales and a 4% increase in contract research and development revenue.

The increase in product sales from the prior-year quarter was due to the addition of new customers and increased purchase volume by existing customers. Product sales for the quarter ended December 31, 2009 increased 2% sequentially from $5,177,445 for the quarter ended September 30, 2009. Until this fiscal year, our product sales had been less in quarters ended December 31 than the immediately preceding quarters in every year since fiscal 2007. This seasonality may have been due in part to distributor ordering patterns or customer vacations and shutdowns late in calendar years. The departure from product sale seasonal weakness in the current fiscal year may have been due to an improving economic environment. We cannot predict whether the seasonal pattern prior to fiscal 2010 will return in future fiscal years, and we cannot predict the possible impact of economic conditions on future results of operations. Furthermore, in every year since fiscal 2007 our product sales have increased in quarters ended March 31 from the quarters ended December 31, but we cannot predict whether this pattern will continue this fiscal year.

The increase in research and development revenue was due to new contracts and increased activities on certain contracts. The increase in research and development revenue for the quarter may not be representative of future trends. Contract research and development activities can fluctuate for a number of reasons, some of which are beyond our control, and there can be no assurance of additional or follow-on contracts for expired or completed contracts.

Gross profit margin decreased to 68% of revenue for the third quarter of fiscal 2010 compared to 70% for the third quarter of fiscal 2009, due to a less favorable product mix.

Selling, general, and administrative expense for the third quarter of fiscal 2010 increased 8% compared to the third quarter of fiscal 2009, primarily due to an increase in commissions and the timing of professional services.

Research and development expense decreased 3% for the third quarter of fiscal 2010 compared to the third quarter of fiscal 2009 due to an increase in contract research and development activities, which caused resources to be reallocated from expensed research and development activities. Research and development expense can fluctuate significantly depending on staffing, project requirements, and contract research and development activities.

Interest and other income increased 35% to $414,669 for the third quarter of fiscal 2010 compared to $307,614 for the third quarter of fiscal 2009. The increase was due to an increase in interest-bearing marketable securities.

The provision for income taxes was $1,368,590 for the third quarter of fiscal 2010 compared to $1,192,282 for the third quarter of fiscal 2009. The effective tax rate was 33% of income before taxes in both quarters, although our effective tax rate can fluctuate due to a number of factors, some of which are outside our control.

The 12% increase in net income in the third quarter of fiscal 2010 compared to the prior-year quarter was primarily due to increased product sales.

Total revenue for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 increased 21% to $19,967,890 compared to $16,475,689 for the nine months ended December 31, 2008. The increase was due to a 14% increase in product sales and a 61% increase in contract research and development revenue. The increase in product sales was due to the addition of new customers and increased purchase volume by existing customers. The increase in research and development revenue was due to new contracts and increased activity on certain contracts. The increase in research and development revenue for the nine month period may not be representative of future trends. Contract research and development activities can fluctuate for a number of reasons, some of which are beyond our control, and there can be no assurance of additional or follow-on contracts for expired or completed contracts.

Selling, general, and administrative expense for the first nine months of fiscal 2010 increased 11% compared to the first nine months of fiscal 2009, primarily due to increased salaries, performance-based compensation, commissions, and stock-based compensation expense. Stock-based compensation expenses for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 and 2008 were primarily due to the issuance of automatic stock options to our non-employee directors on their reelection to our Board. The increase in stock-based compensation for the nine months ended December 31, 2009 compared to the prior-year period was primarily due to a higher stock price at the date of grant compared to the prior-year date of grant.

Research and development expense decreased 13% for the first nine months of fiscal 2010 compared to the first nine months of fiscal 2009 due to an increase in contract research and development activities, which caused resources to be reallocated from expensed research and development activities. The decrease in research and development expense for the nine-month period may not be representative of future expense trends. Research and development expense can fluctuate significantly depending on staffing, project requirements, and contract research and development activities.

Interest and other income increased 40% to $1,177,892 for the first nine months of fiscal 2010 compared to $842,523 for the first nine months of fiscal 2009. The increase was due to an increase in interest-bearing marketable securities.

The provision for income taxes was $4,148,270, or 33% of income before taxes, for the first nine months of fiscal 2010 compared to $3,178,968 or 32% of income before taxes, for the first nine months of fiscal 2009. The effective tax rate can fluctuate due to a number of factors, some of which are outside our control, and our effective tax rate for the first nine months of fiscal 2010 is not necessarily indicative of the rate that may be expected for the full fiscal year ending March 31, 2010.

The 26% increase in net income in the first nine months of fiscal 2010 compared to the prior-year period was primarily due to increases in product sales, contract research and development revenue, and interest income.

Liquidity and capital resources

At December 31, 2009 we had $46,366,580 in cash plus short-term and long-term marketable securities compared to $34,321,811 at March 31, 2009. Our entire portfolio of short-term and long-term marketable securities is classified as available for sale. The increase in cash plus marketable securities in the first nine months of fiscal 2010 was primarily due to $9,391,521 in net cash provided by operating activities, a $2,008,329 net increase in the market value of our marketable securities due to market-price changes, and $622,423 in net proceeds from the sale of common stock related to option exercises.

Deferred taxes were a $46,436 liability at December 31, 2009 compared to a $667,729 asset at March 31, 2009. The change was primarily due to a $723,332 increase in deferred taxes related to the net increase in the value of our marketable securities. Accounts receivable decreased by $438,350 at December 31, 2009 compared to March 31, 2009 due to the timing of payments by our customers. Inventories decreased by $455,404 due to raw material purchase timing and our efforts to manage certain inventories.

We currently believe our working capital is adequate for our needs at least for the next 12 months.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk.

The primary objective of our investment activities is to preserve principal while at the same time maximizing after-tax yields without significantly increasing risk. To achieve this objective, we maintain our portfolio of cash equivalents and marketable securities in a variety of securities including government agency obligations, municipal obligations, corporate obligations, and money market funds. Short-term and long-term marketable securities are generally classified as available-for-sale and consequently are recorded on the balance sheet at fair value with unrealized gains or losses reported as a separate component of accumulated other comprehensive income, net of estimated tax. Marketable securities as of December 31, 2009 had remaining maturities between four and 59 months. Our short-term and long-term marketable securities had a fair market value of $45,202,361 at December 31, 2009, representing approximately 85% of our total assets. We have not used derivative financial instruments in our investment portfolio.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures.

Management, with the participation of the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, has performed an evaluation of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Exchange Act)) as of the end of the period covered by this report. This evaluation included consideration of the controls, processes and procedures that are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by us in the reports we file under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the SEC's rules and forms and that such information is accumulated and communicated to our management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure. Based on such evaluation, our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that, as of the end of the period covered by this report, our disclosure controls and procedures were effective.

During the quarter ended December 31, 2009, there was no change in our internal control over financial reporting that materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.

PART II OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings.

On February 10, 2006 a lawsuit was filed against NVE and certain of its current and former executive officers and directors in the U.S. District Court for the District of Minnesota by an individual shareholder seeking to represent a class of purchasers of our common stock during the period from May 22, 2003 through February 11, 2005. On March 6 and March 7, 2006, two additional lawsuits were filed in the same court by two additional NVE shareholders, with the same proposed class period, purporting to represent the same class. These lawsuits were subsequently consolidated into a single case and a consolidated complaint was filed. The consolidated complaint generally alleged that the defendants violated the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 by issuing material misrepresentations concerning NVE's projected revenues and product technology, which artificially inflated the market price of our common stock. On July 3, 2007 the U.S. District Court granted our motion to dismiss the consolidated lawsuits, with prejudice, after finding that the consolidated complaint failed to adequately plead the plaintiffs' claims. On May 30, 2008, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit affirmed the U.S. District Court's dismissal.

On March 23, 2006, two related actions brought by individual shareholders who sought to represent NVE derivatively were filed in Hennepin County District Court. On October 26, 2009 these derivative actions were ordered dismissed by the Court.

Item 1A. Risk Factors.

There have been no material changes from the risk factors disclosed in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2009, except the risk factor titled "We may lose revenue if we are unable to renew agreements with large customers" is replaced in its entirety by the following:

We may lose revenue if we are unable to renew agreements with large customers.

Our agreement with Avago Technologies, Inc., as amended, expires June 26, 2010; our Supplier Partnering Agreement with St. Jude Medical, as amended, expires December 31, 2010; and our Phonak AG Supply Agreement expires May 1, 2012. We cannot predict if any of these agreements will be renewed, or if renewed, under what terms. The inability to agree on mutually acceptable terms or the loss of any of these large customers could have a significant adverse impact on our revenue and our profitability.

We are updating the expiration date of our Supplier Partnering Agreement with St. Jude Medical in this risk factor because an amendment extended the term of that agreement.
