PROXY STATEMENT

GENERAL INFORMATION

GENERAL

The enclosed proxy is solicited on behalf of the board of directors of Next Level Communications, Inc., for use at our annual meeting of stockholders to be held on May 29, 2002 at 9:00 a.m., Central time, or at any adjournment or postponement thereof, for the purposes set forth in this proxy statement and in the accompanying notice of annual meeting of stockholders. The annual meeting will be held at 10 North Martingale Road, 4th Floor, Schaumburg, Illinois 60173. Only holders of record of our common stock at the close of business on April 15, 2002, which is the record date, will be entitled to vote at the annual meeting.

REVOCABILITY OF PROXIES

Any proxy given pursuant to this solicitation may be revoked by the person giving it at any time before its use either by (1) delivering to our corporate secretary a written notice of revocation or a duly executed proxy bearing a later date or (2) attending the annual meeting and voting in person.

RECORD DATE, VOTING AND SOLICITATION

We are first mailing these proxy solicitation materials on or about April 30, 2002 to the holders of our common stock on the record date, who are entitled to notice of and to vote at the annual meeting. Each share of common stock entitles its holder to one vote on matters to be acted upon at the annual meeting. At the record date, 86,006,986 shares of our common stock were issued and outstanding.

Edgar Filing: NEXT LEVEL COMMUNICATIONS INC - Form DEF 14A

Votes cast by proxy or in person at the annual meeting will be tabulated by the inspector of elections. The inspector of elections will also determine whether or not a quorum is present. In general, Delaware law provides that a quorum consists of a majority of the shares entitled to vote and present in person or represented by proxy. The inspector of elections will treat abstentions and broker non-votes as shares that are present and entitled to vote for purposes of determining the presence of a quorum. Directors will be elected by a plurality of the votes cast that are present in person or represented by proxy. Abstentions, withheld votes and broker non-votes will not effect the election of directors. All other proposals require the favorable vote of a majority of the votes present and entitled to vote on the particular proposal. Abstentions will have the same effect as votes against such a proposal. Broker non-votes will not be counted as votes for or against such proposal and will not be included in counting the number of votes necessary for approval of the proposal. Any proxy which is returned using the form of proxy enclosed and which is not marked as to a particular item will be voted for the election of directors nominated by the board of directors, for ratification of the appointment of the designated independent auditors and as the proxy holders deem advisable on other matters that may come before the annual meeting, as the case may be, with respect to the item not marked.

The cost of soliciting proxies is being borne by us. We have retained MacKenzie Partners, Inc. to assist in the proxy solicitation for a fee of $3,000 plus expenses. In addition, we may reimburse brokerage firms and other persons representing beneficial owners of shares for their expenses in forwarding solicitation materials to such beneficial owners. Proxies may also be solicited by certain of our directors, officers and regular employees, without additional compensation, personally or by telephone.

BOARD MEETINGS AND COMMITTEES

Our board of directors held a total of five meetings during the year ended December 31, 2001. Our board of directors has an audit committee and a compensation committee. The board of directors does not have a nominating committee or a committee performing the functions of a nominating committee.

The audit committee consists of Mr. Kornblau, Mr. Latchford and Mr. McCartney, all of whom are outside directors, and held nine meetings during the year ended December 31, 2001. The audit committee approves our independent auditors, reviews the results and scope of annual audits and other accounting related services and evaluates our internal controls.

The compensation committee consists of Mr. McCartney, Mr. Latchford and Mr. Severns and held five meetings during the year ended December 31, 2001. Mr. Severns is an executive officer of Motorola, our principal stockholder and holder of a majority of our common stock through General Instrument. The compensation committee makes recommendations to the board of directors in connection with our stock option plans and matters of compensation, including determining the compensation of our executive officers, except that a subcommittee consisting of Mr. McCartney and Mr. Latchford, both of whom are outside directors, makes recommendations as to matters subject to Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code.

COMPENSATION COMMITTEE INTERLOCKS AND INSIDER PARTICIPATION

No interlocking relationship exists between our board of directors or our compensation committee and the board of directors or compensation committee of any other company, nor has any such interlocking relationship existed in the past. Mr. Delaney and Mr. Severns are affiliated with Motorola; Motorola through General Instrument holds a majority of our common stock. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions."

DIRECTOR COMPENSATION

We pay our non-employee directors who are not employees of Motorola, General Instrument or their respective affiliates a retainer of $20,000 per year. In addition, we pay such directors a fee of $1,500 for each meeting of the board of directors or a board committee that they attend. Non-employee directors participate in our 1999 Equity Incentive Plan, pursuant to which such directors are automatically granted options to purchase shares of our common stock on the terms and conditions set forth in that plan. In most cases, options will vest over the four-year period following the date of grant. Options generally expire 10 years after they are granted, except that they generally expire earlier if the optionee's service terminates earlier.

During 1999, in accordance with that plan and prior to the consummation of our initial public offering, Mr. Latchford and Mr. McCartney each were granted options to purchase 20,000 shares of our common stock at an exercise price of $11.00 per share.  - (2) This column represents the value of the options on December 31, 2001 using the Black-Scholes option pricing model for the common stock, utilizing the following assumptions: stock price volatility of 101%; dividend yield of 0%; a 4-year expected option term; 4.55% risk-free interest rate; and no adjustment for non-transferability or forfeiture. The actual value, if any, that an executive officer may realize will depend on the excess of the market price over the exercise price on the date the option is exercised so there is no assurance that the value realized by an executive will be at or near the value estimated by the Black-Scholes model, which is based on assumptions as to the variables of stock price volatility, future dividend yield and interest rate.

COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT

The following is a report of the compensation committee of our board of directors describing the compensation policies applicable to our executive officers during the year ended December 31, 2001. The committee recommends salaries, incentives and other forms of compensation for our directors, officers and other employees, administers our various incentive compensation and benefit plans, including stock plans, and recommends policies relating to such incentive compensation and benefit plans. Executive officers who are also directors have not participated in deliberations or decisions involving their own compensation.

NEXT LEVEL COMMUNICATIONS' COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT ON EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Three members of our board of directors, Mr. McCartney, Mr. Latchford and Mr. Severns, serve as the Compensation Committee of the board. The Compensation Committee reviews, recommends and approves changes to Next Level's compensation policies and benefits programs, administers the 1999 Equity Incentive Plan, including approving stock option grants, and otherwise seeks to ensure that Next Level's compensation philosophy is properly implemented and is consistent with Next Level's best interests. Matters subject to the provisions of Internal Revenue Code 162(m) as well as grants of equity compensation awards to individuals subject to Section 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, however, are independently reviewed and approved by a compensation subcommittee consisting of Mr. McCartney and Mr. Latchford. The 2001 compensation levels for Next Level's executive officers generally were determined on an individual basis at the time of hiring.

COMPENSATION PHILOSOPHY

The Compensation Committee's goal is to provide a competitive compensation package based on a review of publicly available information about the compensation paid to similarly situated executives. The Compensation Committee believes that a substantial portion of compensation should be tied to the attainment of long-term and short-term objectives. To achieve these compensation objectives, the Compensation Committee has developed a compensation philosophy for executive officers consisting of base salary, annual incentive awards and equity incentives.

Components of Executive Compensation

Base Salary. The Compensation Committee annually reviews each executive officer's salary. In determining the appropriate salary, the Compensation Committee considers, among other factors, the officer's scope of responsibility, prior experience and past accomplishments. The Compensation Committee also compares base salaries and salary ranges of similar positions in other companies in relevant markets defined by company size, industry and location. Executive, technical and other highly-compensated positions are valued in the national market using data developed by nationally recognized compensation consulting firms. Base salary for these positions is targeted at the median of a peer group of publicly traded companies with similar products, markets and other comparable characteristics. The peer group is reviewed regularly and generally established on the basis of market capitalization value. The published compensation data used by the Compensation Committee to establish base salary ranges, however, are not necessarily drawn from the same peer group of companies included in the Stock Performance Graph below. No executive officer received a salary increase in 2001.

Annual Incentive Awards. Annual incentive awards, in the form of cash payments, are designed to achieve specific short-term results and to further long-term objectives. Financial and other objectives and program participants are set at the beginning of each year. The process involves the board of directors, the Compensation Committee, the Chief Executive Officer and program participants. Goals and objectives are established for each program participant at the beginning of the year. Performance is measured at year-end against these pre-established objectives and annual incentive awards are determined based on performance.

The Compensation Committee annually reviews potential incentive awards for executive officers as a percentage of base salary and recommends adjustments to the board of directors, based upon a review of Next Level's results and performance versus objectives and personal performance of participants versus objectives. Base salary and annual incentive awards (cash compensation) are generally targeted at the 50th percentile of the peer group of companies discussed above. No payments under the annual incentive plan were made in 2001.

Long-Term Equity Incentive Awards. The Compensation Committee emphasizes the award of stock options and believes that in the highly competitive, emerging markets in which Next Level operates, equity-based compensation provides the greatest incentive for outstanding performance and the greatest alignment of management and stockholder long-term interests. As a result, the Compensation Committee has relied on long-term equity compensation as a substantial means of compensating and motivating Next Level's executive officers. It is the Compensation Committee's practice to set option exercise prices at not less than 100% of the stock's fair market value on the date of grant. Thus, the value of the stockholders' investment in Next Level must appreciate before an optionee receives any financial benefit from the option. Options are generally granted for a term of ten years. Options granted to Next Level's executive officers generally provide that they are not exercisable until one year after the date of grant, at which time they become exercisable on a cumulative basis at an annual rate that may vary for any particular grant.

Participation in Next Level's 1999 Equity Incentive Plan is available to employees, outside directors and consultants. The Compensation Committee annually reviews participants and potential award ranges considering responsibility, authority and potential impact on Next Level. The opportunity range for each participant is based on guidelines developed by nationally recognized compensation consultants. At year end, the Compensation Committee reviews Next Level's condition and performance and individual performance versus long-term goals and determines awards for eligible participants. Awards may be in the form of stock options, restricted stock, stock appreciation rights and stock units, which are sometimes called "phantom shares," although to date all awards have been in the form of stock options. In April 2000, the Compensation Committee determined that it was in Next Level's best interest to grant stock options to all employees on an ongoing basis as a means of retaining and motivating individuals. This also allowed Next Level's employees to develop an ownership position, thus aligning them with the long-term goals of both Next Level and its other stockholders.

Chief Executive Officer Compensation. The Compensation Committee annually reviews the Chief Executive Officer's performance and compensation and recommends changes as appropriate to the board of directors. In its review, the Compensation Committee considers Next Level's condition, operating results, performance versus short-term and long-term objectives, economic environment, industry conditions and increased stockholder value. The Compensation Committee also considers the Chief Executive Officer's performance against short-term and long-term objectives, compensation versus peers and other factors. In view of industry conditions and Next Level's cash position, it was determined that no annual incentive award would be paid to the Chief Executive Officer for 2001 performance. The Compensation Committee did execute an employee agreement with Mr. Norris codifying his hiring agreement reached in December 2000. The employment agreement calls for a salary of $425,000, a bonus target of 80%, a lease to a house owned by us for $2,000 per month and an option grant of 600,000 shares vesting at 25% after one year and monthly thereafter over the subsequent thirty-six months. The employment agreement also contains termination and change of control provisions. Mr. Norris also received a signing bonus of $100,000 upon his appointment as Chief Executive Officer in December 2000, which was paid in 2001.

Policy on Deductibility of Compensation

Section 162(m) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code limits the tax deductibility by a corporation of compensation in excess of $1.0 million paid to any of its five most highly compensated executive officers. However, compensation which qualifies as "performance-based" is excluded from the $1.0 million limit if, among other requirements, the compensation is payable only upon attainment of pre-established, objective performance goals under a plan approved by stockholders.

The Compensation Committee does not presently expect total cash compensation payable for salaries to exceed the $1.0 million limit for any individual executive. Having considered the requirements of Section 162(m), the Compensation Committee believes that stock option grants to date meet the requirement that such grants be "performance based" and are, therefore, exempt from the limitations on deductibility. The Compensation Committee will continue to monitor the compensation levels potentially payable under its cash compensation programs, but intends to retain the flexibility necessary to provide total cash compensation in line with competitive practice, Next Level's compensation philosophy and Next Level's best interests.

AUDIT COMMITTEE REPORT

The Audit Committee of the board of directors is comprised of independent directors as required by the listing standards of the Nasdaq National Market. The Audit Committee operates pursuant to a written charter adopted by the board of directors.

The role of the Audit Committee is to oversee Next Level's financial reporting process on behalf of the board of directors. Management has the primary responsibility for Next Level's financial statements as well as Next Level's financial reporting process, accounting principles and internal controls. The independent auditors are responsible for performing an audit of Next Level's financial statements and expressing an opinion as to the conformity of such financial statements with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Edgar Filing: NEXT LEVEL COMMUNICATIONS INC - Form DEF 14A

In this context, the Audit Committee has reviewed and discussed Next Level's audited financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2001 with management and the independent auditors. The Audit Committee has discussed with the independent auditors the matters required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61 (Communications with Audit Committees), as modified or supplemented. In addition, the Audit Committee has received the written disclosures and the letter from the independent auditors required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1 (Independence Discussions with Audit Committees), as modified or supplemented, and it has discussed with the auditors their independence from Next Level. The Audit Committee has also considered whether the independent auditors' provision of services covered in "All Other Fees" below to Next Level is compatible with maintaining the independence of Deloitte & Touche LLP.

Based on the reports and discussions described above, the Audit Committee recommended to the board of directors that the audited financial statements be included in Next Level's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2001 for filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

AUDIT FEES

The aggregate fees billed by Deloitte & Touche LLP for professional services rendered for the audit of Next Level's annual consolidated financial statements for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 and for the reviews of the condensed consolidated financial statements included in Next Level's quarterly reports on Form 10-Q for such fiscal year were approximately $330,000.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION SYSTEMS DESIGN AND IMPLEMENTATION FEES

There were no fees billed by Deloitte & Touche LLP to Next Level relating to financial information systems design and implementation for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001.

ALL OTHER FEES

The aggregate fees billed by Deloitte & Touche LLP for services rendered to Next Level other than services described above under "Audit Fees" for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 were approximately $633,000. Such fees were comprised of (i) audit related services of $202,000, (ii) tax compliance and planning services of $140,000 and (iii) inventory process related services of $291,000.

The audit committee has considered whether the provision of these services is compatible with maintaining Deloitte & Touche LLP's independence.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Next Level Communications ("NLC" or the "Limited Partner") was incorporated as a California corporation in 1994. In September 1995, NLC was acquired by General Instrument Corporation ("General Instrument"). In January 1998, NLC transferred its net assets, management and workforce to a newly formed limited partnership, Next Level Communications L.P. (the "Partnership"), in exchange for an 89% limited partnership interest. The Partnership recorded the net assets transferred at their historical cost. At the same time, Spencer Trask (the "General Partner") acquired an 11% general partner interest in the Partnership in exchange for a $10.0 million cash contribution.

On August 24, 1999 the Partnership formed the Company as a wholly-owned subsidiary. On November 9, 1999, we issued 9,775,000 shares of common stock at $20.00 per share for net proceeds of $177.0 million in an initial public offering. Prior to the completion of the offering, the following recapitalization transactions occurred:

A note payable and accrued interest to General Instrument of $86.8 million was converted into 4,337,633 shares of our common stock.

The Partnership and NLC (a wholly-owned subsidiary of General Instrument) were merged into the Company. As part of this merger, the General Partner received 5,863,329 shares of our common stock and General Instrument received 55,366,091 shares of our common stock in exchange for their respective partnership interests.

We issued a common stock dividend of 4,400,000 shares to General Instrument to reflect the additional value, $88.0 million, which will be received by us upon exercise of the warrants described below. In accordance with the partnership agreement NLC was entitled to receive the $88.0 million exercise price. As a result of the recapitalization, such amounts are to be received by us as these warrants are exercised. Accordingly, General Instrument received $88.0 million of common stock (4,400,000 shares) because it would have received that amount under the partnership agreement.

The General Partner's option in the partnership agreement to acquire up to 11% of NLC upon an initial public offering was converted into warrants to acquire 8,480,102 shares our common stock at $10.38 per share. In 2000, warrants to purchase 2,369,000 shares of common stock were exercised. The exercise price of these warrants was paid through the surrender of additional warrants to purchase 519,493 shares of common stock. We did not receive any cash proceeds. At December 31, 2001, warrants to acquire 5,600,000 shares of common stock were outstanding under this agreement.

On January 5, 2000, General Instrument consummated its merger with Motorola. Consequently, Motorola is able to exercise a majority of our total voting power and has the ability to control our board of directors and all matters relating to our business and affairs. We do not know whether Motorola's plans for our business and affairs will be different than our existing plans and whether any changes that may be implemented under Motorola's control will be beneficial or detrimental to our other stockholders.

Although Motorola has advised us that it currently intends to hold all of its shares, neither Motorola, through its ownership of General Instrument, or Spencer Trask and its related persons are subject to any contractual obligation to retain any of its shares. As a result, we cannot assure you as to how long Motorola or Spencer Trask and its related persons will maintain their remaining beneficial ownership of our common stock.

It is possible that Motorola could be in a position involving a conflict of interest with us. Two of our directors are employed by Motorola. These directors or other individuals who are officers or directors of both Motorola and us have fiduciary duties to both Motorola and us. For example, a conflict may arise if Motorola were to engage in activities or pursue corporate opportunities that may overlap with our business. Our certificate of incorporation contains provisions intended to protect Motorola and these individuals in these situations.

CORPORATE AND INTERCOMPANY AGREEMENT WITH GENERAL INSTRUMENT

In November 1999, we entered into a corporate and intercompany agreement with General Instrument under which we granted to General Instrument and its affiliates a continuing option to purchase additional shares of common stock or shares of non-voting capital stock. If we issue any additional equity securities, General Instrument and its affiliates may exercise this option to purchase:

- shares of common stock to the extent necessary for them to maintain their then-existing percentage of the total voting power; and
- shares of non-voting capital stock to the extent necessary to own 80% of any class of non-voting capital stock which may be outstanding.

The purchase price of the shares of common stock is the fair market value of the common stock. The purchase price of non-voting capital stock will be the price at which third parties may purchase this stock. The option expires if General Instrument and its affiliates beneficially own less than 30% of our outstanding common stock.

Under this agreement, we have agreed to obtain a release of General Instrument from its Bell Atlantic guaranty as promptly as practicable.

This agreement also provides that, for as long as General Instrument and its affiliates beneficially own a majority of the outstanding common stock, we may not take any action which may be reasonably anticipated to result in a violation by them of:

- any law or regulation, including the Internal Revenue Code or the Employee Retirement Income Security Act;
- their certificates of incorporation or by-laws;
- any credit agreement or other material instrument binding upon them or any of their assets; or
- any judgment, order or decree of any governmental authority having jurisdiction over them or any of their assets.

This agreement also provides that the parties will provide reasonable cooperation with respect to their tax filings and any tax audits. Under this agreement, we will also indemnify General Instrument and its affiliates against any lawsuits or other claims arising out of any of our or our predecessors' activities or omissions before and after our initial public offering.

Under this agreement, we and our board of directors also appointed additional directors nominated by Motorola on January 5, 2000.

This agreement also provides that we will enter into a similar agreement for the benefit of any transferee or group of related transferees of General Instrument which is unaffiliated with General Instrument of more than a majority of the outstanding shares of our common stock in a single transaction or a group of related transactions.

CROSS LICENSE AGREEMENT WITH GENERAL INSTRUMENT

In November 1999, we entered into a cross license agreement with General

Edgar Filing: NEXT LEVEL COMMUNICATIONS INC - Form DEF 14A

Instrument. Under this agreement, General Instrument granted to us a nonexclusive, perpetual, royalty free, worldwide license under all patent applications and patents owned by General Instrument and any future patents issued from these General Instrument patents and patent applications, to make our NLevel(3) product or related switched digital video network equipment and software. This grant did not include patent claims covering the implementations, methods or devices primarily used or to be used by General Instrument. Also under this agreement, we granted to General Instrument and its affiliates, including Motorola, a nonexclusive, perpetual, royalty free, worldwide license under all patent applications and patents owned by us and filed prior to our initial public offering and any future patents issued from these patents and patent applications to make digital cable subscriber terminals, satellite and wireless subscriber terminals, cable modems, HFC telephony and related headend, uplink, transmission or other network equipment and software. This grant did not include patent claims covering the implementations, methods or devices primarily used or to be used by us. We and General Instrument each also licensed to the other the right to use confidential, technical and other information in each other's possession as of the completion of our initial public offering. These licenses do not include the right to sublicense to any third parties. This agreement permits General Instrument and us to transfer their or our licenses pursuant to a sale of its or our respective entire business, a sale of an entire business unit that benefits from the license or to any of General Instrument's or our respective affiliates.

REGISTRATION RIGHTS AGREEMENT WITH GENERAL INSTRUMENT AND SPENCER TRASK

In November 1999, we entered into a registration rights agreement with General Instrument and Spencer Trask Investors, LLC. Under this agreement, we granted to these stockholders and their transferees the right to request that we use our best efforts to register their shares of our common stock and the shares of common stock underlying their warrants under federal and state securities laws so that they may sell or dispose of their shares in accordance with these laws. So long as General Instrument and its affiliates own 30% of our outstanding common stock, they will not be limited in the number of times they may make that request. After their ownership declines below that level, they will be able to cause us to effect up to four registrations of their shares. Spencer Trask and its related persons and their transferees will be able to cause us to effect up to three registrations of their shares. Under customary "piggy-back" registration rights, General Instrument, Spencer Trask and their transferees will also be entitled to include their shares in all registrations of common stock we make, either for a sale by us or any of our stockholders, subject to customary exceptions. We will pay for all out-of-pocket expenses relating to these registrations and indemnify General Instrument, Spencer Trask (and its related persons) and their transferees against certain liabilities under securities laws. General Instrument and Spencer Trask and related persons and their transferees may generally assign these registration rights to transferees of their shares. This agreement also provides that we will enter into a similar agreement for the benefit of any majority transferee. As defined in the agreement a majority transferee is any transferee or group of related transferees of General Instrument which is unaffiliated with General Instrument of more than a majority of the outstanding shares of common stock in a single transaction or a group of related transactions.

CHANGE OF CONTROL AGREEMENTS WITH EXECUTIVE OFFICERS

In April 2000, Mssrs. Weeks, Uraz and Zar each entered into agreements with us providing for acceleration of all unvested stock options held by such individuals immediately prior to the consummation of a change in control, as defined in the agreement, notwithstanding any vesting schedule or other provisions to the contrary in the agreements or plans evidencing such options. In the event of an acquisition of Next Level by Motorola, 50% of the unvested stock options held by such individuals shall become fully vested and immediately exercisable immediately prior to the consummation of the acquisition by Motorola, with the remainder of such individuals' unvested stock options vesting in accordance with the original vesting schedule of the stock option agreement and stock option plan pursuant to which such stock options were granted for the period commencing on the consummation of the acquisition by Motorola and ending on the 12 month anniversary following such acquisition. In 2001, Mssrs. Ide and Barnell entered into similar change of control agreements with us.

SEVERANCE AGREEMENT WITH PETER KEELER

We entered into a Severance Agreement and General Release with Peter Keeler effective as of December 4, 2000. Pursuant to the agreement, Mr. Keeler's employment with us as Chief Executive Officer terminated as of December 4, 2000 and his position with us as Chairman of the Board of Directors terminated as of March 31, 2001. Additionally, certain of Mr. Keeler's employee benefits were extended through December 4, 2003 and Mr. Keeler's stock option agreements were amended to allow his options to be exercised until the termination of the option agreements.

During 2001 we entered into a note agreement with Motorola for $83.0 million which matures on May 17, 2003. Interest is payable monthly and is determined on either the base rate, as defined in the agreement, plus 2% or the Eurodollar rate plus 3 1/2% (5.4% at December 31, 2001).

In connection with the note agreement we granted warrants to purchase up to 10,000,000 shares of our common stock; 7,500,000 warrants have an exercise price of $7.39 per share and 2,500,000 warrants have an exercise price of $4.29 per share. Warrants to purchase 7,000,000 shares of our common stock were exercisable at December 31, 2001. The remaining warrants become exercisable as follows:

- 1,000,000 shares become exercisable unless, prior to May 17, 2002, all borrowings under the note agreement have been repaid in full, and it has been terminated;
- 1,000,000 shares become exercisable unless, prior to November 17, 2002 all borrowings under the note agreement have been repaid in full, and it has been terminated; and
- 1,000,000 shares become exercisable unless, prior to February 17, 2003, all borrowings under the note agreement have been repaid in full, and it has been terminated.

We do not expect to repay amounts due under the agreement until its maturity date of May 17, 2003. As a result, the estimated fair value of the remaining 3,000,000 warrants will be adjusted in subsequent periods, up to their respective measurement dates, to reflect changes in our stock price.

The fair value of the warrants of $37.4 million was recorded as a discount to the note payable with a corresponding increase to additional paid-in capital. The fair value of the warrants was estimated using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following assumptions: no dividends; risk free interest rate ranging from 4.3% to 4.9%; volatility of 101%; and a contractual life of five years. As of December 31, 2001, no shares of common stock had been purchased under the warrants.

We are amortizing the discount under the effective interest method up to the maturity date (May 17, 2003) of the related note. During the year ended December 31, 2001 we amortized $10.4 million of the discount, which has been reflected as interest expense in our statement of operations. As of December 31, 2001, the Motorola note was recorded at $56.0 million, net of $27.0 million of unamortized discount.

The note agreement with Motorola contains various covenants, including compliance with net worth requirements, and restrictions on additional indebtedness, capital expenditures and payment of dividends. As of December 31, 2001, we were not in compliance with the net worth financial covenant. On March 26, 2002, we and Motorola amended the note agreement to waive the debt covenant violation and established revised financial covenants for net worth. We also entered into a Registration Rights Agreement with Motorola in which we granted to Motorola the right to request that we use our best efforts to register its shares of our common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants under federal and state securities laws so that it may sell or dispose of its shares in accordance with these laws. Motorola may exercise its rights under this agreement on not more than four occasions. Under customary "piggyback" registration rights, Motorola will also be entitled to include its shares in all registrations of common stock we make, either for a sale by us or any of our stockholders, subject to customary exceptions. We will pay for all out-of-pocket expenses relating to these registrations and indemnify Motorola against certain liabilities under securities laws. Motorola may assign these registration rights to transferees of its shares.

TAX SHARING AND ALLOCATION AGREEMENT WITH MOTOROLA

In December 2000, we received a $15.0 million advance from Motorola related to a tax sharing and allocation agreement (the "Tax Sharing Agreement"). During 2001 we received an additional $17.3 million in January 2001, and the Tax Sharing Agreement was amended in February 2001. The amount advanced to us of $32.3 million was based on an estimate of the present value of income tax benefits to Motorola from the inclusion of our operating losses for the period from January 6, 2000 to May 17, 2000 in Motorola's consolidated tax return. On October 10, 2001, we received a revised calculation of the estimated present value of income tax benefits to Motorola based upon actual net losses that were included in Motorola's 2000 tax return. The revised amount was $29.3 million. Under the original agreement, we were required to repay the $3.0 million difference by October 15, 2001. On October 15, 2001, the Loan Agreement between us and Motorola was amended to include such $3.0 million (see above). To the extent Motorola does not achieve the expected tax benefits by September 30, 2006, we must repay any difference.

In the event of a debt or equity security offering or a sale of assets in excess of $25.0 million, the first $25.0 million of proceeds may be retained by us; the next $25.0 million (between $25.0 million and $50.0 million) of such proceeds will be allocated at least one-third to repay our obligations under the Tax Sharing Agreement, and the balance may be retained by us; the next $25.0 million of such proceeds (between $50.0 million and $75.0 million) will be allocated at least one-half to repay our obligations under the Tax Sharing Agreement and the balance may be retained by us; amounts of such proceeds in excess of $75.0 million must be used 100% first to repay our obligations under the Tax Sharing Agreement (to the extent of such obligations) and then to repay and reduce the amount owed under the note agreement.

MORTGAGE GUARANTEE BY MOTOROLA

Edgar Filing: NEXT LEVEL COMMUNICATIONS INC - Form DEF 14A

On October 30, 2001, we received $20.0 million under a mortgage loan for a company-owned office building. The loan is amortized over a twelve year period with a ten year term and bears interest at an annual fixed rate of 7.51%. The entire unpaid principal balance plus accrued interest thereon is due and payable on November 1, 2011.

The mortgage is guaranteed by Motorola. In consideration for the guarantee, we issued to Motorola warrants to purchase up to 400,000 shares of common stock with an exercise price of $3.82 per share. Accordingly, the warrants were recorded at the fair value of $0.7 million, with a discount to the mortgage loan note payable and a corresponding increase to additional paid-in capital. The fair value of the warrants was estimated using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following assumptions: no dividends; risk free interest rate ranging from 4.3% to 4.9%; volatility of 101%; and a contractual life of five years.

$30.0 MILLION REDEEMABLE CONVERTIBLE PREFERRED STOCK ISSUED TO MOTOROLA

On February 20, 2002, we issued $30.0 million of redeemable convertible preferred stock ("Series A Preferred Stock") to Motorola, comprised of 6,912,442 shares at a purchase price of $4.34 per share. Each share of Series A Preferred Stock is convertible, at the option of the holder, into two shares of our common stock, or 13,824,884 shares in total. The Series A Preferred Stock is redeemable, at the option of the holder, at an initial redemption price of $5.21 per share, on or after February 19, 2007. Dividends are cumulative at a rate of 7.5%, payable in cash or additional shares of Series A Preferred Stock, at our option. Liquidation value is $10.85 per share. In conjunction with this financing, we also issued to Motorola warrants to purchase 3,456,221 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $2.17 per share and warrants to purchase 3,456,221 shares of common stock at an exercise price of $2.60 per share. The warrants have a term of five years. We also entered into a Registration Rights Agreement with Motorola in which we granted to Motorola the right to request that we use our best efforts to register its shares of our common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants or upon conversion of the Series A Preferred Stock under federal and state securities laws so that it may sell or dispose of its shares in accordance with these laws. Motorola may collectively exercise its rights under this agreement and under the Registration Rights Agreement between us and Motorola dated as of May 16, 2001 on not more than four occasions. Under customary "piggyback" registration rights, Motorola will also be entitled to include its shares in all registrations of common stock we make, either for a sale by us or any of our stockholders, subject to customary exceptions. We will pay for all out-of-pocket expenses relating to these registrations and indemnify Motorola against certain liabilities under securities laws. Motorola may assign these registration rights to transferees of its shares.

$35.0 MILLION LINE OF CREDIT COMMITMENT FROM MOTOROLA

On March 29, 2002, Motorola agreed to make available to us up to an additional $35.0 million in financing. Draw downs by us, when they occur, will be treated, at Motorola's option, as either (i) additions to the existing Note Payable Agreement with Motorola and subject to substantially the same terms (interest rate, maturity in May 2003, warrants, etc.) under such agreement or (ii) additional issuances of redeemable convertible preferred stock, subject to substantially the same terms as the February 2002 issuance of Series A Preferred Stock described above.
