HUMBOLDT BANCORP TO ACQUIRE CALIFORNIA INDEPENDENT BANCORP

Roseville, CA, and Yuba City, CA, August 12, 2003 (PRNewswire) Humboldt Bancorp (NASDAQ: HBEK) and California Independent Bancorp (NASDAQ: CIBN) today jointly announced that they have entered into a definitive agreement pursuant to which Humboldt will acquire California Independent, the holding company for Feather River State Bank, based in Yuba City, California, in a transaction valued at approximately $80 million.

Feather River State Bank, founded in 1976, had total assets of $378 million as of June 30, 2003. The markets served by Feather River State Bank are among the fastest growing in the state and include nine branches in Sutter, Yuba, Colusa, Yolo and Placer counties. It ranks third in deposit market share in Yuba and Colusa counties, with a 20% and 24% respective market share, and holds the number four position in Sutter County, with a 16% market share.

This transaction allows us to fill a big void between our Roseville and Chico locations with a solid community-oriented bank that shares our values, remarked Robert M. Daugherty, President & Chief Executive Officer of Humboldt Bancorp. With our exit from the merchant bankcard business, our focus is on building and improving the profitability of our community bank franchise. We believe this merger with California Independent is a unique opportunity that will benefit customers and shareholders of both our companies and is an important step forward in creating the premier community bank in Northern California.

John Jelavich, President & Chief Executive Officer of California Independent Bancorp and Feather River State Bank, added We believe that this combination of financial institutions realizes value for our shareholders that would be difficult to achieve if we remained independent. With similar cultures and relationship-oriented community bank focus, this merger creates an opportunity to offer enhanced products and services, plus expand lending capabilities, which should benefit our customers and provide for future growth.

Upon completion of the merger, Humboldt will have approximately $1.5 billion in assets and operate 26 branches throughout northern California. The boards of both companies have approved the transaction, which is subject to regulatory and shareholder approvals, as well as other customary conditions of closing. Completion is expected during the first quarter of 2004.

The transaction is valued at approximately $80 million, or $35.50 per California Independent share. California Independent shareholders may elect to exchange each share held for cash or stock, although elections may be subject to proration if the results of all shareholders' elections differ from Humboldt's targeted stock-cash split of 60%-40%. The aggregate cash consideration will be approximately $32 million, or 40% of the total consideration, and a total of approximately 3.28 million shares of Humboldt common stock will be issued, representing 60% of the total consideration.

The consideration California Independent shareholders will be entitled to receive in exchange for their shares will depend on the average price of Humboldt common stock during a defined 20-trading day period prior to closing. If the average closing price of Humboldt common stock during the defined period is greater than $14.12 and less than $15.30 per share, a California Independent shareholder will be entitled to receive, in exchange for a California Independent share, $35.50 in cash or a number of shares of Humboldt common stock with a value of $35.50 based on the Humboldt average closing price during the defined period. If the average closing price of Humboldt common stock during the defined period is $14.12 or lower, then a California Independent shareholder will be entitled to receive, in exchange for a California Independent share, cash in an amount, or a number of shares of Humboldt common stock with a value, based on Humboldt's average closing price, equal to the sum of $14.20 and the value of 1.5085 shares of Humboldt common stock based on Humboldt's average closing price, which sum will be less than $35.50. However, if the average price of Humboldt common stock declines disproportionately on an absolute basis and compared to the Nasdaq Bank Index, Humboldt may adjust the consideration a California Independent shareholder would be entitled to receive and, if it does not, California Independent may elect to terminate the merger agreement. If the average closing price of Humboldt common stock during the defined period is $15.30 or higher, a California Independent shareholder will be entitled to receive, in exchange for a California Independent share, cash in an amount, or a number of shares of Humboldt common stock with a value, based on Humboldt's average closing price, equal to the sum of $14.20 and the value of 1.3922 shares of Humboldt common stock based on Humboldt's average closing price, which sum will be more than $35.50. Accordingly, the final percentage of the aggregate stock consideration may vary slightly above or below 60% of the total.

The companies anticipate that the transaction will qualify as a tax-free reorganization, and in general, expect that California Independent shareholders will not recognize income to the extent they exchange all of their California Independent stock for Humboldt stock and do not receive cash in lieu of any fractional shares, although shareholders should consult their own tax advisors for the consequences of the merger to them.

Humboldt expects the transaction to be accretive to GAAP earnings per share within the first year after completion, excluding the impact of merger-related expenses. Humboldt expects to recognize approximately $2 million in non-recurring charges related to the transaction and integration, most of which will be recognized during the quarter in which the transaction is completed. After completion of the holding company merger, Feather River State Bank will be merged into and operated as a division of Humboldt Bank, retaining its local brand identity.

Subject to fiduciary duties under applicable law, Humboldt expects to appoint three California Independent directors to the Humboldt board at the time of closing and to cause them to be nominated for election at Humboldt's next annual meeting of shareholders. Humboldt anticipates that three current Humboldt directors will resign effective as of the closing of the transaction. The remaining California Independent directors will be asked to join a newly-formed regional advisory board for the markets served by Feather River State Bank. John Jelavich, President & Chief Executive Officer of California Independent, will retire after completion of the transaction.

Keefe, Bruyette & Woods, Inc. served as the financial advisor for Humboldt and Sandler O'Neill & Partners, LP served as financial advisor for California Independent.
