ABOUT THE ANNUAL MEETING

This booklet and proxy card contain information about the items you will vote on at the annual meeting and about the voting process.

Who is entitled to vote, and how many votes do I have?

You can vote if you held common stock of Equitable Resources at the close of business on March 7, 2002. For each item presented for vote, you have one vote for each share you own. In addition, in the election of directors, you may cumulate votes by multiplying your shares by the number of directors to be elected and casting all of your votes for a single candidate or by distributing them among any two or more candidates.

How do I vote?

You may vote:

in person by attending the meeting;

by following the instructions on the enclosed proxy card and completing and mailing it in the prepaid envelope provided;

by following the instructions at the Internet site <http://www.eproxy.com/eqt>; or by following the instructions for telephone voting after calling 1-800-435-6710.

For both Internet and telephone voting you will need to enter the control number from your proxy card. If you vote your proxy by Internet or telephone, you do not need to mail back the proxy card. Your proxy will be voted in accordance with your selections on the card, Internet site or telephone instructions. If you do not indicate any selections, your shares will be voted as recommended by the Board of Directors. Even if you plan to attend the meeting, we encourage you to vote by proxy as soon as possible.

If your broker holds your shares in "street name," your broker will contact you for voting instructions as to how to vote those shares. If you want to vote those shares in person at the meeting, you need to obtain a proxy from your broker.

Can I change my vote?

You can revoke your proxy before the time of voting at the meeting by:

voting a revised proxy by card, Internet or telephone dated later than the prior proxy;

voting in person at the meeting; or notifying the corporate secretary of Equitable Resources in writing that you are revoking your proxy.

What shares are included on my proxy card?

If the name on the accounts is the same, the shares on your proxy card may represent (i) shares for which you have a certificate; (ii) shares that you hold in book-entry form; or (iii) shares that you have in a dividend reinvestment account of the Equitable Resources Dividend

Reinvestment and Stock Purchase Plan. Shareholders owning both certificated shares and shares in book-entry form will receive a proxy card for the certificated and book-entry shares. If you separately own shares through your broker, you will receive separate voting instruction cards from the broker. Employees holding stock in the Employee Savings Plan, the Employee Savings and Protection Plan, the Employee Stock Purchase Plan and/or as restricted shares under Equitable Resources Long-Term Incentive Plans will receive separate voting instruction cards for those plans. The trustee or administrator of the plans will vote the shares in accordance with the instructions on the returned instruction cards or as recommended by the Board of Directors if you provide no instructions on the instruction form. The trustee of the savings plans will vote plan shares for which it does not receive instructions in proportion to the way other plan participants voted their shares.

What if I receive more than one proxy card?

Except as discussed in "What shares are included on my proxy card," if you receive more than one proxy card, you have shares registered differently in more than one account. We encourage you to have all accounts registered in the same name and address whenever possible. You can do this by contacting our transfer agent, Mellon Investor Services LLC, at P.O. Box 3312, South Hackensack, New Jersey 07606, at their toll free number (800-589-9026) or on their web site at www.mellon-investor.com.

How will my shares be voted on other matters that may be presented to the meeting?

Since no shareholder has indicated an intention to present any other matter to the annual meeting in accordance with the advance notice provision in the company's by-laws, the Board is not aware of any other proposals for the meeting. If another proposal is presented, the persons named as proxies will vote your proxy in their discretion.

Who can attend the annual meeting, and how do I obtain an admission ticket?

You may attend the meeting if you were a shareholder on March 7, 2002. Seating is limited and will be offered on a "first come, first served" basis. If you plan to attend the meeting, you will need an admission ticket, which you can obtain by checking the appropriate box on your proxy card or by writing to the corporate secretary of Equitable Resources at One Oxford Centre, 301 Grant Street, Suite 3300, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15219. If a broker holds your shares, please include a copy of your brokerage account statement or an omnibus proxy, which you can get from your broker, and we will send you an admission ticket.

What constitutes a "quorum" for the meeting?

A majority of the outstanding shares, present or represented by proxy, constitutes a quorum. A quorum is necessary to conduct business at the annual meeting. You are part of the quorum if you have voted by proxy. Abstentions, broker non-votes and votes withheld from director nominees also are counted in determining whether a quorum is present.

What is the total number of outstanding shares?

At the close of business on March 7, 2002, the record date for the meeting, Equitable Resources had 63,438,673 shares of common stock outstanding.

How are the votes counted?

Director candidates who receive the highest number of votes cast will be elected. Approval of each other item requires a majority of the votes cast. Abstentions and broker non-votes are not counted in the voting results. A broker non-vote occurs when a broker or other nominee who holds shares for another does not vote on a particular item because the nominee does not have discretionary voting authority for that item and has not received instructions from the owner of the shares.

Who pays for the solicitation of proxies?

We are soliciting proxies primarily by use of the mails. However, we may also solicit proxies in person, by telephone, by facsimile, by courier or by electronic means. To the extent that our directors and officers participate in this solicitation, they will not receive any compensation for their participation, other than their normal compensation. Equitable Resources pays for the cost of soliciting proxies from shareholders. Mellon Investor Services LLC assists Equitable Resources with the solicitation for a fee of $5,000 plus reasonable out-of-pocket expenses. Equitable Resources also reimburses brokerage firms and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries for their reasonable out-of-pocket expenses for sending proxy materials to shareholders and obtaining their proxies.

May I nominate someone to be a director of Equitable Resources?

If you are a shareholder entitled to vote at an annual meeting, you may nominate one or more persons for election as directors of Equitable Resources at that meeting. You may do this by sending a written notice to the corporate secretary at One Oxford Centre, 301 Grant Street, Suite 3300, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15219. The notice must include certain information about the persons you nominate. To be included in next year's proxy statement, according to the company's by-laws, we must receive the notice not less than 90 but not more than 120 days before May 16, 2003, the anniversary date of this year's annual meeting. For complete details, contact the corporate secretary.

When are the 2003 shareholder proposals due?

Under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission, eligible shareholders can submit proposals for inclusion in the proxy statement for our 2003 annual meeting. You must submit shareholder proposals in writing to the corporate secretary at the address above by November 18, 2002 for them to be considered for inclusion in the 2003 proxy statement.

For proposals which will not be included in the proxy statement of the 2003 annual meeting, if you are a shareholder entitled to vote at the meeting, you may present one or more proposals at the meeting. The corporate secretary must receive any proposals to be raised, which will not be included in next year's proxy statement, not less than 90 but not more than 120 days before May 16, 2003, the anniversary date of this year's annual meeting, according to the company's by-laws. No proposals received outside that time period may be raised at the annual meeting.

Compliance with Section 16(a) Reporting

The Securities and Exchange Commission rules require that we disclose late filings of stock ownership reports by directors, executive officers and all persons who beneficially own more than 10% of Equitable Resources' common stock. Due to the complexity of the reporting rules, the company has assumed certain responsibilities for filing compliance and has instituted procedures to assist directors and officers with these obligations.

Based solely upon the company's review of the copies of the filings or written representations from the reporting persons, we believe that all reporting persons made all filings required by Section 16(a) on a timely basis.

VOTING MATTERS

ITEM NO. 1 ELECTION OF DIRECTORS (Item No. 1 on the proxy card)

The Board of Directors of Equitable Resources currently has 10 members, who are divided into three classes. The term of one class expires each year. Directors are elected for three-year terms. The terms of three directors expire at this annual meeting. At the annual meeting, Phyllis A.

Edgar Filing: EQUITABLE RESOURCES INC /PA/ - Form DEF 14A

Domm, Ed.D., James E. Rohr and David S. Shapira will stand for election. The shareholders previously elected all of these nominees to serve until the 2002 annual meeting. A fourth director, Donald I. Moritz, is retiring effective at the annual meeting. Mr. Moritz's service with the company spans over 40 years, including 16 years as chief executive officer and 30 years as a director. The company is grateful to Mr. Moritz for his dedicated service and his many contributions to the company's success. David L. Porges has been nominated to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Moritz's retirement.

The persons named as proxies will vote for the nominees named, as more fully discussed in the "About the Meeting" section of this proxy statement, unless you withhold authority to vote for any one or more of them. The votes represented by any proxy may be cumulated and voted at the discretion of the persons named as proxies in favor of any one or more of the nominees, unless otherwise indicated on your proxy card. The effect of this discretionary authority may be to offset the effect of your having withheld authority to vote for individual nominees because the persons named as proxies will be able to allocate votes of shareholders who have not withheld authority to vote those nominees. If a nominee becomes unavailable for election, the persons named as proxies intend to vote for substitute nominees proposed by the Board, unless the Board decides to reduce the number of directors. The four individuals who receive the largest number of votes cast will be elected directors for a three-year term expiring in 2005.

The Board of Directors Recommends a Vote FOR all Nominees for the Board of Directors.

Transactions With Directors' Companies

During 2001, Equitable Resources conducted business with PNC Financial Services Group, Inc. ("PNC"), where Mr. Rohr serves as Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer. The company paid PNC a total of $521,675 in fees in 2001 for various services, including commitment fees for a line of credit in which PNC participates, treasury management fees and trust fees. Also during 2001, Equitable Resources' pension plan for hourly employees paid BlackRock, Inc., a majority-owned subsidiary of PNC, $117,555 in fees for investment management services. All of these transactions were on arms-length terms we believe to be fair and Mr. Rohr did not have a direct or indirect material interest in these transactions.

In the course of ordinary business, Equitable Resources may have other transactions with companies and organizations for which an Equitable Resources director serves as an officer. Those directors did not have a material interest in any such transaction and none of those transactions exceeded 5% of the gross revenues of either Equitable Resources or the other organization. Moreover, any such transactions were entered into on arms-length terms we believe to be fair.

Board of Directors and Committees

Held two meetings in 2001.

Has the authority to act in all matters that the full Board may act upon when the Board is not in session, unless limited by a resolution of the Board and except to the extent limited by law.

Directors' Compensation and Retirement Program

In May 2001, an external compensation consultant reviewed the total compensation for directors. The retainer fees, meeting fees and stock ownership opportunities were determined to be competitive with compensation paid to directors of S&P 500 companies of similar revenue size.

Cash Compensation

Annual cash retainer of $24,000, payable quarterly.

Cash meeting fee of $1,000 for each Board and committee meeting attended.

Cash meeting fee of $500 for telephone participation in a meeting.

Equity Compensation

A stock option award under the Non-Employee Directors' Stock Incentive Plan of 7,600 shares of common stock per director at the market price of $39.125 per share on May 17, 2001, the date of grant. Options vest one-third annually over three years and have a ten-year exercise term. The options vest if the service of a director terminates for any reason. The number of options awarded in future years will be based on competitive practices as determined by a nationally recognized external consultant.

Deferred Compensation Plan for Non-Employee Directors

Equitable Resources maintains a deferred compensation plan under which directors' fees may be deferred until Board service ends or an earlier time, as the director may elect.

In May 1999, the directors' retirement plan was curtailed and the accrued benefit of each active director was converted to a stock account administered under the Directors' Deferred Compensation Plan. Imputed dividends are credited to the account as additional shares. All participants are vested upon death or termination of services as a director. Directors elected after May 1999 are not eligible to participate in the retirement plan.

Life and Travel Accident Insurance

The company also provides non-employee directors with $20,000 of life insurance, $20,000 of accidental death and dismemberment insurance and $100,000 of travel accident insurance while traveling on company business.

Edgar Filing: EQUITABLE RESOURCES INC /PA/ - Form DEF 14A

For directors who joined the Board prior to May 25, 1999, Equitable Resources purchased life insurance to fund contributions to qualified organizations upon the death of a director. The program restricts gifts to civic, charitable and educational organizations preferably in locations where Equitable Resources has operations or provides service.

- (1) Beginning with the 1999 bonus, company policy requires the Chairman and officers reporting directly to him to defer 20% of their bonus into the Equitable Resources, Inc. Employee Deferred Compensation Plan. This requirement is waived if they participate in the Executive Short-Term Incentive Plan and have met their stock ownership guidelines. Any required deferral is invested in Equitable Resources common stock, which vests in equal increments on January 1 of each of the two years following deferral. Voluntary deferrals in excess of the required amount receive a 25% company match. All of the officers have exceeded their stock ownership guidelines and therefore no deferral is required. Mr. O'Brien elected to defer his entire bonus for 2001 into the Deferred Compensation Plan. This additional deferral and the 25% company match applicable to the deferral are invested in Equitable Resources common stock. The company match vests in equal increments on January 1 of each of the three years following deferral.

The actual value, if any, that an optionee may realize upon exercise will depend on the excess of the market price of the common stock over the option exercise price on the date the option is exercised. Compensation Committee Report on Executive Compensation

Our Compensation Committee determines compensation for the executive officers of Equitable Resources. All Committee members are independent directors who have never been employees of Equitable Resources. Our decisions are based upon our understanding of Equitable Resources' businesses and strategy, as well as our knowledge of the capabilities and performance of the company and its executives.

Compensation Philosophy

Our goal is to create value for the shareholders of Equitable Resources by providing the company with a long-term perspective while striving to deliver consistently profitable annual results. We emphasize variable compensation and favor equity compensation to the extent possible because of our commitment to pay-for-performance. The Committee believes that the close linkage between executive and shareholder interests, resulting from our increased emphasis on compensation that varies with financial and stock price performance, has had an especially positive impact on the company's business and financial performance in recent years.

To support these objectives, executives participate in compensation programs that focus on achieving annual business objectives and creating long-term value for the stockholders. This total compensation program, which is designed to attract, motivate and retain high-performing executives who can consistently deliver results for our shareholders, includes salary, annual cash incentives, long-term, stock-based incentives, employee benefits and perquisites.

We determine compensation based on the following objectives and guidelines:

Base salaries are established at approximately the 50th percentile, while potential total direct compensation (base, bonus and long-term incentive compensation together) for outstanding performance is designed to approximate the 75th percentile of general industry companies of similar revenue size. Compensation consultants provide independent industry surveys, and we review publicly available compensation information, to determine competitive practices.

Bonus opportunities are based on the overall performance of Equitable Resources and the individual contribution of each executive. Awards are distributed to employees participating in the plan based on the achievement of corporate, business segment and individual performance goals identified annually.

Consistent with the Committee's philosophy, it is our policy to make a high proportion of executive compensation dependent on long-term performance and on enhancing shareholder value. Long-term stock-based programs are designed to encourage share ownership by management, reinforce a performance-based culture, align management's interests with those of the shareholders and assist with retention of key executive contributors. We believe that the company's executives will more effectively represent the shareholders of Equitable Resources if they are shareholders themselves. Stock-based awards provide strong incentives for continued superior performance because, with salaries set at a 50th percentile level, executives can only realize significant incentive rewards if the shareholders also receive the benefits of strong equity performance. Therefore, we have a bias toward providing stock options and other equity-related arrangements as key elements of the executive compensation program.

Base Salaries

Because Equitable Resources favors a pay-for-performance approach, the base salary levels are generally targeted at the 50th percentile of a survey group consisting of general industry companies of similar revenue size. Individual performance, taking into account competitive salaries, is the basis for individual salary increases. General economic conditions and marketplace compensation trends also are evaluated with the assistance of independent compensation consultants.

Annual Incentive Opportunities

Participants in the company's short-term incentive plan have a bonus target equal to a percentage of their annual salary, which is established based on market competitive data. This plan is designed to provide cash bonus payments once Equitable Resources has met pre-established, Board-approved financial goals. Depending on the level of performance, a bonus pool is funded for each of headquarters and the business units based on a multiple of the sum of the targets for all participants. The actual multiple is determined by the level of achievement of net income and key value driver measures for the business units. The headquarters multiple is determined by earnings per share growth and return on total capital performance. We make adjustments in all plans to eliminate the effect of weather, commodity prices, acquisitions/divestitures and extraordinary items as presented by management and approved by this Committee. The maximum multiple of the sum of participant bonus targets is 200%. Awards are based on the size of the bonus pool and performance against individual financial, strategic, operational and organizational objectives.

At the beginning of the year, we set the bonus targets for the executive officers and the performance requirements for the multiples used to calculate the bonus pool, based on the 2001 business plan. We also approve the actual bonus payments made based on the individual performance for all officers.

Long-Term Incentives

Stock-based awards are made on a market competitive basis, using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model. The size of prior grants or the amount of stock held by employees to whom awards are made is not considered when determining the amount of individual awards. The 1999 Equitable Resources Long-Term Incentive Plan provides for a variety of stock-based incentive awards, including stock options (with or without reload rights), restricted stock, performance awards and other stock-based awards.

Other Compensation

We provide a competitive level of employee benefit programs along with perquisites that we deem appropriate and competitive for each executive's position.

Stock Ownership Guidelines

To promote stock ownership by management, the Committee, in 1998, approved personal stock ownership guidelines for executives. These guidelines require that an executive retain a minimum of 50% of the net shares received from the exercise of an option until the executive's stock holdings meet a predetermined value. This value is defined as follows:

Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer	Four times base salary

Direct Reports to Chairman	Three times base salary
----------------------------	-------------------------

Once the required value has been reached, the executives may sell shares from company stock-based awards that are in excess of the targets listed above. In calculating stock ownership, the company considers stock held, stock option value (vested and unvested), restricted stock grants, stock units held in the company's deferred compensation plan and stock in the 401(k) and employee stock purchase plans.

The company's long-term performance ultimately determines compensation from stock options, since gains from stock option exercises are entirely dependent on the long-term growth of the company's stock price. Comparing current performance to performance in 1998, the company has demonstrated significant improvement as measured by return on investment, return on equity, total shareholder return, stock price increase and increase in market capitalization. As a result of this performance and the emphasis on equity compensation and stock ownership, executives have earned and now hold a significant amount of company stock. Equitable executives own more than the guideline number of shares for their positions, and their holdings exceed the averages for general industry companies.

Recognizing that equity holdings represent compensation for past services and that executives may need to take steps to diversify their portfolios, we anticipate that executives may, from time to time, exercise options or sell shares. In order to ensure compliance with insider trading regulations, executives will be encouraged to take advantage of the new rules promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission providing for the use of trading plans for transactions in company stock.

Compensation of Executive Officers in 2001

Edgar Filing: EQUITABLE RESOURCES INC /PA/ - Form DEF 14A

In March 2001, our Committee increased salary and annual cash incentive targets for executive officers, reflecting similar increases in the comparison group. Annual incentive payouts to executive officers for 2001 averaged 151% of target based on attainment of pre-established corporate, business unit and individual value drivers.

Equitable Resources also granted stock options to executive officers at or above the target levels for their positions. Above-target grants were made to individuals when necessary to adjust for below-market base salary. Restricted stock grants also were made to one executive officer consistent with market competitive survey information.

Compensation of the Chief Executive Officer Equitable Resources bases the chief executive officer's compensation on the same philosophy and policies as for all executive officers. This compensation includes base salary, annual cash incentives and stock option awards commensurate with his achievements and consistent with our objective to continue to provide appropriate performance incentives.

The Corporate Governance Committee of the Board meets annually without the chief executive officer present and evaluates his performance compared with previously established financial and non-financial goals. That Committee reports performance levels achieved to our Committee, and we then make any appropriate compensation adjustments. Finally, we report in full to the other members of the Board for their consideration and agreement. This meeting is an executive session of non-employee directors only.

Murry S. Gerber currently serves as Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Equitable Resources. In March 2001, we increased Mr. Gerber's base salary from $575,000 to $580,000. We also granted him a stock option with reload rights of 400,000 shares. Finally, in February 2002, we awarded Mr. Gerber a bonus payment of $650,000. We based this amount on the superior performance of the company in 2001, as reflected in:

Earnings per share growth of approximately 45% from fiscal year-end 2000 to fiscal year-end 2001.

Achievement of approximately 11.4% return on total capital, moving the company from the bottom to the top performer of its peer group in slightly over three years.

First quartile performance in peer group comparison for return on total capital, return on equity and total shareholder return.

Improved operating fundamentals in all of the businesses.

Tax Deductibility of Executive Officer Compensation

Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code generally limits the corporate tax deduction for compensation paid to the executive officers named in the Summary Compensation Table to $1,000,000 each, unless certain requirements are met. We have carefully considered the impact of this tax code provision and strive in our compensation decisions to balance this with the need to provide compensation programs that motivate and retain high-performing executives.

Employment and Non-Competition Agreements

We entered into employment agreements with Messrs. Gerber and Porges in connection with their appointments as President and Chief Executive Officer and Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, respectively. The term of the agreements automatically extends each month so that they effectively have a perpetual one-year term, unless either party gives notice of a desire not to extend the term, in which case the agreement expires one year after the notice. The agreements provide for payment to the executive of a base salary, which is reviewed and adjusted annually by the Compensation Committee based on individual performance and base salaries at peer companies, and participation by the executive in other incentive and benefit plans of the company, including participation in the company's short-term and long-term incentive plans. Under the agreements, the company also agrees to (1) grant to the executive a minimum number of stock options annually through 2002 (60,000 in the case of Mr. Gerber, 30,000 in the case of Mr. Porges), (2) provide a supplemental life insurance benefit (equal to two times base salary in the case of Mr. Gerber, one times base salary in the case of Mr. Porges), (3) provide a split dollar life insurance benefit (with a $2.0 million death benefit in the case of Mr. Gerber, $1.0 million in the case of Mr. Porges), and (3) provide certain perquisites to the executive. If Equitable Resources terminates the executive's employment without cause, the executive is entitled to one year's base salary, reduced by amounts received under the non-competition and change in control agreements described below.

In connection with the employment of Mr. Gerber, we entered into a supplemental retirement agreement with him which is intended to make up the difference, if any, between the $211,500 per year early retirement benefit to which he would be entitled from his prior employer and the retirement benefit to which he is entitled under Equitable Resources' employee savings plan and deferred compensation plan. This benefit is payable to Mr. Gerber from age 55 to age 65, but only if he terminates employment after age 55 (or age 52 in the case of involuntary termination without cause).

We have also entered into non-competition agreements with the executive officers named in the Summary Compensation Table. Under these agreements, the executives agree not to compete with Equitable Resources for 12 months (24 months in the case of Mr. Gerber, except that the duration is reduced to 12 months in the case of involuntary termination or termination within 24 months of a change in control) after the termination of their employment for any reason. The executives also agree to keep information confidential and not to solicit employees of the company after their termination. Under these agreements, the company agrees to pay the executives a severance benefit of 24 months salary and benefits continuation, in consideration of their confidentiality, non-compete and non-solicitation agreements. This severance benefit is in addition to any other severance benefit to which the executive may be entitled. These agreements terminate and do not apply if the executive is entitled to severance benefits under the change in control agreements described below.

Change in Control Agreements

We have entered into change in control agreements with the executive officers named in the Summary Compensation Table. These agreements provide severance benefits in the event of a change in control of Equitable Resources. The purpose of the agreements is to foster the continued dedication of key executives in the face of the uncertainties that accompany a possible change in control. For purposes of these agreements, a change in control includes the following: (1) the sale of all or substantially all of Equitable Resources' assets, unless the company's shareholders prior to the sale own at least 80% of the company's stock after the sale; (2) the acquisition by a person or group of beneficial ownership of 20% or more of Equitable Resources' common stock; (3) the termination of the company's business and the liquidation of the company; (4) consummation of a merger or consolidation of Equitable Resources, unless shareholders of voting securities immediately prior to the merger or consolidation continue to hold 60% or more of the voting securities of the resulting entity and a majority of the company's Board does not change; or (5) a change in the composition of the Board, so that existing Board members and their approved successors do not constitute a majority of the Board. The agreement has an automatic renewal feature, meaning that the agreements will continue in effect unless either Equitable Resources or the executive elects not to extend the agreement, in which case the agreement expires 36 months after the notice.

Under the agreements, severance benefits are payable if the executive is involuntarily terminated (other than for cause) or terminates employment for good reason within two years following a change in control. Good reason to terminate employment exists if there are significant changes in the nature of employment following the change in control, including, for example, a reduction in compensation, a change in responsibility or relocation of the place of employment. Severance benefits payable under the agreements include: (1) a cash payment equal to three times the executive's annual base salary, (2) a cash payment equal to three times the executive's highest annual bonus earned in the three years prior to termination; (3) continuation of medical, disability, dental and life insurance benefits for three years following termination; and (4) payment of the company match benefit and retirement contribution under the company's savings plan for three years after termination. The agreements also provide for the payment to the executive of a "gross-up" payment for all income taxes and any excise taxes payable by the executive with respect to payments they receive in connection with a change in control of the company.

Pension Plan

All executive officers participate in a defined contribution plan under the company's 401(k) Employee Savings Plan. Under the Employee Savings Plan, the company contributes an amount equal to a percentage of each employee's base salary to an individual investment account for the employee.

Audit Committee Report

Our Committee, the Equitable Resources Audit Committee, is comprised of four independent members.

In accordance with the Securities and Exchange Commission rules regarding audit committees, we have adopted a formal, written charter, which was approved by the Board of Directors of Equitable Resources on April 25, 2000. As set forth in the charter, management is responsible for the internal controls and financial reporting process of Equitable Resources. The independent auditors perform an independent audit of Equitable Resources' consolidated financial statements in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards in the United States and issue a report. Our responsibility includes monitoring and overseeing these processes.

In the performance of our oversight function, we have reviewed and discussed the audited financial statements of the company for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001 with the management of Equitable Resources. We have discussed with Ernst & Young LLP, the company's independent auditors, the matters required to be discussed by Statement on Auditing Standards No. 61 (Communication with Audit Committees). We also have received the written disclosures and the letter from Ernst & Young LLP required by Independence Standards Board Standard No. 1 (Independence Discussions with Audit Committees) and have discussed the independence of Ernst & Young LLP with that firm. In doing so, we considered whether the provision of non-audit services to the company was compatible with maintaining their independence. We also reviewed the amount of fees paid to Ernst & Young LLP for both audit and non-audit services.

The members of our Committee are not professionally engaged in the practice of auditing or accounting. The Audit Committee's considerations and discussions referred to above do not assure that the audit of the company's financial statements has been carried out in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, that the financial statements are presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles or that the company's auditors are in fact "independent."

Based on the review of the report of the independent auditors to the Audit Committee and discussions with the management and the independent auditors for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2001, we recommended to the Board of Directors that the financial statements be included in the Equitable Resources Annual Report on Form 10-K.

This report has been furnished by the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors.
