PART III--NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

The annual report on Form 10-K of United Mobile Homes, Inc. (the "Company") for the period ended December 31, 2004 could not be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on a timely basis without unreasonable effort or expense in light of the circumstances described below.

Following a review of its accounting treatment of various interest rate swaps, the Company, in consultation with its external auditors, KPMG LLP, has determined that it is necessary to restate its previously issued financial statements for periods ending on or prior to September 30, 2004. In an ongoing review of its accounting policies, the Company determined that the accounting for certain of its interest rate swaps did not comply with generally accepted accounting principles in the U.S. (GAAP). Although management believes the substance of the interest rate swaps achieved the original objectives of converting certain variable rate debt to effectively fixed rate obligations, certain technical documentation requirements for hedge accounting under Financial Accounting Standards Board (FAS) Statement No. 133 "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities" and related interpretations were not met.

Historically, the Company treated these interest rate swaps as embedded derivatives and did not separately recognize the fair value of these derivatives as an asset/liability in the Company's consolidated financial statements. The Company disclosed these borrowings as fixed rate obligations. Since these transactions do not qualify for hedge accounting under FAS Statement No. 133, the Company must record the fair value of the derivatives as an asset/liability and the changes in fair value as an income/expense in the period that such changes occurred. KPMB LLP is in the process of completing their 2004 audit of the Company's consolidated financial statements. Management estimates that these non-cash adjustments have the effect of decreasing net income by approximately $531,000 for the year ended December 31, 2002 and increasing net income by approximately $390,000 for the year ended December 31, 2003. The impact of this accounting change for the nine months ended September 30, 2004 is to increase net income by approximately $249,000. There is no effect on historical or future net cash flows provided by operating activities.
