Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

Noble Roman's, Inc. (the "Company") intends to distribute to selected investors an Executive Summary and related materials, which has been prepared with the assistance of a third party consultant engaged by the Company. The materials discuss the Company's growth phase. It continues its focus on sale of franchises for Noble Roman's Pizza and Tuscano's Italian Style Subs for non-traditional locations including bowling centers and entertainment facilities of all types, convenience stores, attractions such as zoos and aquariums, hotels, hospitals and, in general, any facility where there is existing foot traffic. In addition, the Company will seek to enter into area development agreements and franchises of its dual-branded quick service restaurant concept and traditional locations. The Company expects the area developers typically will purchase their areas for the payment of $.05 per population in their area and will receive 30% of the franchise fee and 2/7ths of the royalty from the units developed pursuant to those agreements.

In order for the area developer to maintain the territory, each area development agent will be responsible for meeting minimum development schedules. The Company believes this strategy of using area developers to function as sub-franchisors will allow the Company to grow its dual-branded quick service restaurant concept for traditional locations in multiple regions throughout the U.S. simultaneously and without the need for Noble Roman's to add the sales staff, contribute capital or incur the cost associated with accelerated national expansion. Area developers will also have strong financial incentives to open the new units since they will be at risk of losing their geographic exclusivity and development fee (expected to range between $25,000 and $200,000 depending on the size of the development area) if they do not meet their development schedule.

The Executive Summary includes: Investment Thesis, Business Model, Growth Strategy, Revenue and Earnings Outlook, Earnings Sensitivity Analysis, Key Financial Assumptions, Company Description and History, Market Opportunity, Competitive Landscape, Management, Valuation Analysis and Price Target, and Risk Factors and Disclaimers.
