EXPLANATORY NOTE

This Amendment No. 1 on Form 20-F/A, or Amendment No. 1, amends our annual report on Form 20-F for the year ended December 31, 2009, which was filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on June 30, 2010. This Amendment No. 1 is being filed to correct certain clerical errors appearing in our 20-F.

Except as described above and reflected in this Amendment No.1, no part of the Registrant's 20-F filed on June 30, 2010 is being amended, and no part of the Form 20-F/A as re-filed in this Amendment No.1 reflects any event occurring after the filing of the Form 20-F and should not be viewed as updating any information contained therein.

Item 11. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk.

Interest rate risk

Our exposure to interest rate risk for changes in interest rates relates primarily to the interest income generated by excess cash deposited in banks. We have not used any derivative financial instruments to hedge interest rate risk. We have not been exposed nor do we anticipate being exposed to material risks due to changes in interest rates. Our future interest income may fluctuate in line with changes in interest rates. However, the risk associated with fluctuating interest rates is principally confined to our cash deposits and therefore, we believe our exposure to interest rate risk is minimal.

Foreign Exchange Risk

We are exposed to the risk of foreign currency exchange rate fluctuation. We have not used any forward contracts or currency borrowings to hedge our exposure to foreign currency exchange risk.

We conduct substantially all of our operations through our PRC operating companies, and their financial performance and position are measured in terms of Renminbi. To the extent we hold assets denominated in U.S. dollars through our PRC entities, any further appreciation of the Renminbi against the U.S. dollar could result in a charge to our income statement and a reduction in the RMB value of our U.S. dollar denominated assets.

The value of our ordinary shares and our ADSs will be affected by the foreign exchange rate between U.S. dollars and Renminbi. For example, to the extent that we need to convert U.S. dollars into Renminbi for our operational needs and if the Renminbi appreciates against the U.S. dollar at that time, our financial condition and the price of our ordinary shares and our ADSs may be adversely affected. Conversely, if we decide to convert our Renminbi into U.S. dollars for the purpose of declaring dividends on our ordinary shares or for other business purposes and the U.S. dollar appreciates against the Renminbi, the U.S. dollar equivalent of our earnings from our subsidiaries in China would be reduced. The value of your investment in our ADSs may fluctuate with the foreign exchange rate between the U.S. dollar and the Renminbi, because the value of our business is largely denominated in Renminbi, while our ADSs will be traded in U.S. dollars.

Inflation

According to the National Bureau of Statistics of China, the change in Consumer Price Index in China was 4.8% in 2007, 5.9% in 2008 and (-0.7)% in 2009. It is widely speculated that the change in Consumer Price Index in China would be significant in 2010. For example, the change for the first quarter of 2010 was 2.2%. We have not in the past been materially affected by any such inflation, but we do not know whether we will not be affected in the future.
